U.S. PLANES FLOWN OVER SEA TO ALLIES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Allies disclosed this afternoon that they are flying some of their American-built bombing planes across the Atlantic.

Arthur B. Purvis, chairman of the Allied Purchasing Mission, made the revelation to reporters

Mr. Purvis said a few of the larger bombing planes already purchased here had been flown across the ocean, and more would be sent that way as soon as they are built.

British Front Holds

LONDON (CP)—Authoritative sources tonight said the British front in Belgium held everywhere today and that casualties were not heavy.

British troops counter-attacked between Arras and Douai but the results were not yet known.

The same source said the Belgians launched counter-attacks against German troops who had crossed the Scheldt River in two places and that both these counter-attacks were successful.

Post Armed Guard

LONDON (CP)—All exits but one at the Ministry of Information suddenly were closed tonight and armed guards stationed beside them.

'ALLIES WILL WIN'

LONDON (CP)—Alfred Duff Cooper, Minister of Information, in a broadcast to the Empire tonight said the situation "is perhaps graver than at any time in the war of 1914-18." It was Mr. Duff Cooper's second broadcast in two days.

"That does not mean defeat is on the horizon," he said. "The war will be won by the Allies and won all the sooner for the perils and sacrifices being laid on them now."

Rogers on Air

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Rogers will broadcast a report on the war effort over the National Network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation from 6.30 to 6.45 P.S.T. this evening.

MORE GUNS, TANKS

LONDON (CP)—Herbert Morrison, Supply Minister, tonight called on civilians to "work at war speed" to combat the menace that has the Allies fighting with "their backs to the wall."

Mr. Morrison, leader of the London County Council and one of the selected group of labor leaders to enter Prime Minister Churchill's government, in a speech called for "more shells, more guns, more tanks."

Quick U.S. Army Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1,823,000,000 United States army appropriation measure, carrying most of the money asked by President Roosevelt for defence measures, was passed by the Senate today and sent back to the House of Representatives for action on amendments.

Fastest Battle

LONDON (CP)—The battle in Belgium and northern France "is raging at the fastest mechanical pace that man's ingenuity can devise," the British Broadcasting Corporation's commentator said tonight in a thrice-weekly broadcast for the fighting services.

The German mechanized units which have paced the German advance were described as "cavalry patrols, no more than that, and in many cases are lost patrols."

Sharp Fight Continues

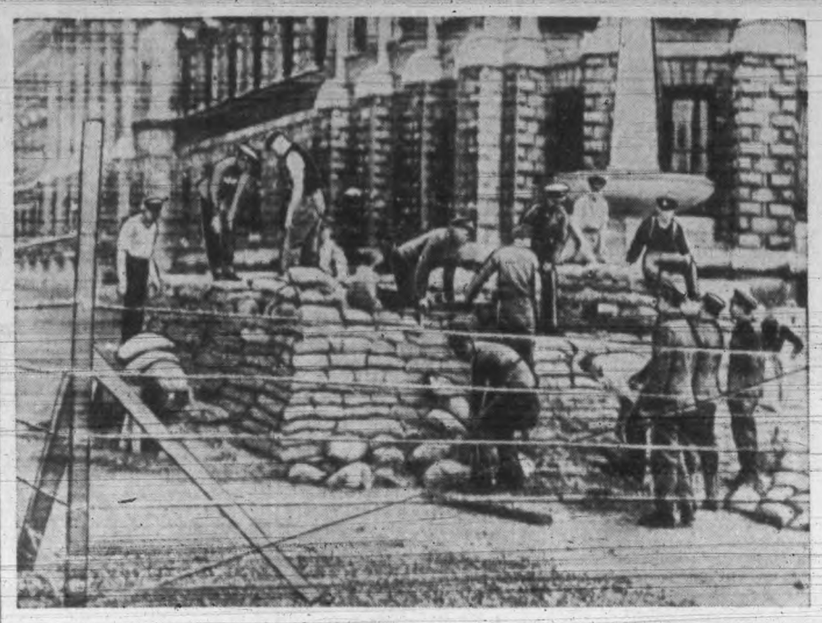
PARIS (AP)—Tonight's French high command communique: "During the day fighting continued in the north and in Belgium. Nothing of importance to report on the remainder of the front."

Churchill Visits Paris

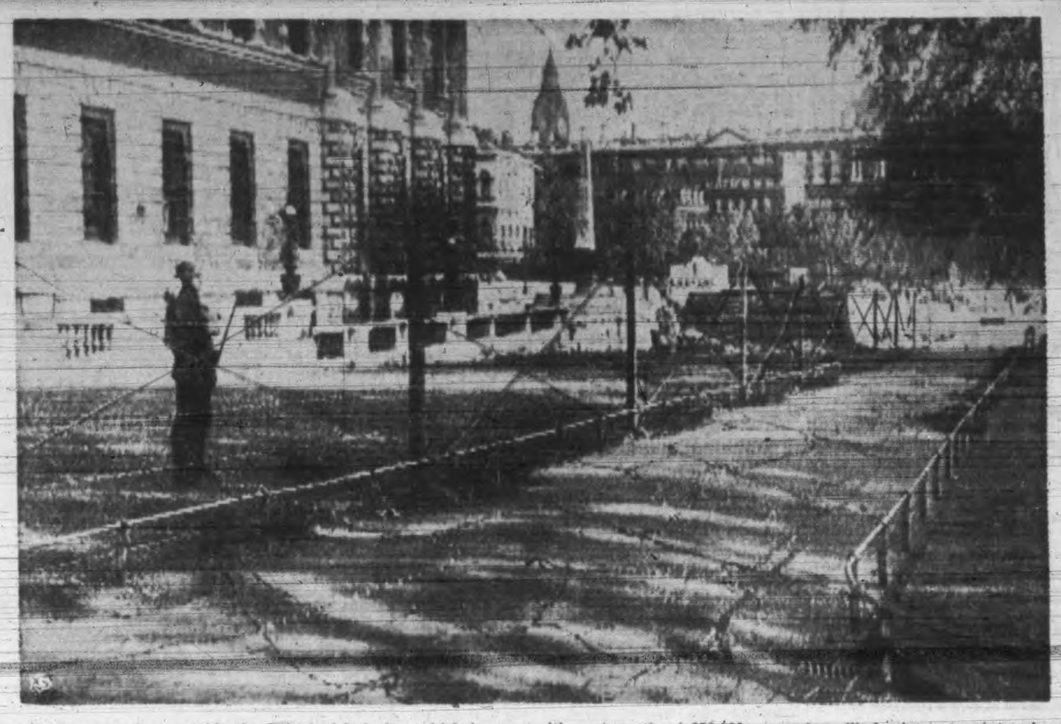
LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, accompanied by naval, military and air advisers, paid a short visit to France today and conferred with Premier Reynaud and General Maxime Weygand, new Allied army commander-in-chief.

They returned to London this evening, it was announced.

War Nearer London as Barbed Wire Guards Vital Points



Up go more and more sandbags in a London square as British soldiers feverishly prepare their capital for the long-threatened aerial blitzkrieg, feared by Britons to be nearer with every foot the Nazi columns advance toward the west. (Cablephoto).



Armed sentry on duty outside the British Admiralty, which is protected by a maze of barbed wire—a strange sight in London. A corps of anti-parachutists marksmen already has been organized with a strength of 250,000 men who will do duty at points where enemy parachute troops might attempt an invasion. Conscript Wealth, Labor

Britain Takes Complete Control

LONDON (CP) — Parliament tonight invested the government with powers to conscript labor and wealth to strengthen the nation's shield against German invasion.

Within three hours the House of Commons and the House of Lords passed and the King approved a bill giving the government sweeping emergency powers demanded "in view of the grave peril in which the nation stands today."

An order-in-council gave immediate effect to the law.

It set up controls under the ministers covering, chiefly, labor, banking, agriculture, transport, mining, war industries and export trade industries.

The war material and export industries will be given absolute priority and labor will be drafted as required to the more essential industries.

Council Speeds Into Action

Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio and head of the new production council, summoned the Munitions Board immediately.

Supply Minister Herbert Morrison ordered all ordnance factories to work full time seven days a week until further notice. Most factories now are working 12-hour shifts.

Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal, acting for Prime Minister Churchill, introduced the bill drafted to confer on the government complete control of persons and property, and at the same time he announced formation of a committee under Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor, to push munitions production.

All Must Serve Needs of State

The legislation requires all persons "to place themselves, their services and their property at the disposal of His Majesty . . . for securing the public safety, the defence of the realm, the maintenance of public order, the efficient prosecution of the war . . . and for maintaining supplies or services essential to the life of the community."

Mr. Attlee stressed the government was not seeking these drastic powers in any sense of panic, but in full realization of the seriousness of the military situation and in determination to mobilize the resources of the nation to meet the German challenge.

The new munitions production council would start operating immediately under Ernest Bevin and Mr. Greenwood. This would mean a wholesale speed-up of production of planes, munitions and supplies of all sorts, and the government hoped organized labor would co-operate in the effort.

NO DISTINCTION

Mr. Attlee told the house that "there should be no distinction between rich and poor and all should be willing to perform services or give up property."

The granting of dictatorial powers to the government, he said, did not mean that today or tomorrow everybody would be given orders to do this or that, nor did it mean that from tomorrow every form of wealth would be taken. The power would be exercised whenever it was necessary in the interest of the nation's safety, he declared.

The excess profits tax would be raised to 100 per cent to prevent anyone profiting from the crisis.

Terms of remuneration, hours of labor and conditions of service would be prescribed by the government, Mr. Attlee declared.

Some establishments would be controlled altogether at once, he said, and others later as the need might arise.

The House, which had without delay consented to consider and enact the bill in one day, was told by Mr. Attlee that the object of the measure to make effective the whole resources of the nation "for whatever task may fall upon it."

Everyone should continue in his job until ordered to do otherwise, Mr. Attlee emphasized.

Competition To Be Reduced

"There must be power to carry on essential services," he said. "Over a wide field industry will have to be run by the community and not for private purposes."

"Wages and profits will be under government control," Mr. Attlee declared.

The House cheered.

Conscription of labor and wealth, he continued, will "apply to everybody."

"At this time everything for which we stand is in jeopardy."

"A great battle is now proceeding," Mr. Attlee said. "Our men at sea, on land and in the air are fighting with splendid devotion and spirit.

"It must be clear to all that the next few weeks are critical. Our ruthless enemy, who is restrained by no considerations of international law, justice or humanity, is throwing everything into the scale to force a decision.

"We are resolved he shall not succeed.

"Whatever may come, we shall meet it as the British people in the past have done.

"It is necessary that the government should be given complete control over persons and property, not only of some persons but over all persons, rich or poor, employer or worker, man or woman."

Work Out Scheme To Control Banks

Control of banks would be required either through a central agency or regional commissioners, Mr. Attlee said.

"It is not only industrial business that will be under control or may be under control," he continued. "There will have to be control of the finances of the country and of the banks.

"This will be done under the orders of the government and the competent authorities in each case will be the minister concerned.

"Broadly speaking, we are taking control in a time of emergency so that in the national interest we may utilize all resources for the common weal."

Check Subversion In B.C. Service

Premier Pattullo today announced firm steps to forestall any "fifth column" activity within the provincial civil service, stating he had heard in a general way of a few instances of subversive influences within the ranks of public employees.

Everyone employed by the government will have to take the oath of allegiance. (Permanent civil servants already take the oath.)

Immediate dismissal will result where specific cases of subversive activity are found.

The Premier's announcement in regard to civil service followed up his plan to discuss fifth column activities generally with the Ottawa government when he goes east. The premier leaves for the federal capital this afternoon.

The premier said he fully appreciated the feelings of people here on the subject, and will go into all aspects of it at Ottawa.

Sloan Report Filed

OTTAWA (CP)—The report of Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan on fish traps and fishing in the Gulf of Georgia has been received by the government and will be tabled in the House of Commons as soon as printed.

This information was given A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, this afternoon by the Fisheries Minister, Hon. J. E. Michaud.

Air Bill Passed

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. C. G. Power, Postmaster-General, minister-designate of the proposed new air ministry, was given an ovation in the House of Commons this afternoon when he spoke in the debate on a bill creating the new branch of government. The bill was passed in the Commons and sent to the Senate.

The upper house then passed the air ministry bill through three readings within 5 minutes.

DEATH PENALTY

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons tonight approved a bill which provides the death penalty for treachery.

Nazis Thrown Out of Abbeville

Recapture of Arras Strengthens Allies

PARIS (AP)—A war ministry spokesman told the press tonight there has been "hardly any change" along the front in the last 48 hours and that Gen. Maxime Weygand, new Allied commander-in-chief, is "really satisfied" with the situation.

The spokesman said there was heavy fighting during the day between Valenciennes and Cambrai, the results of which were not known immediately.

The Germans continued to send out exploring parties on motorcycles and whippet tanks, but they were quickly rounded up, he said.

Some German parties, moving northwest, were admitted to have progressed west of Arras toward the English Channel, although the French reported they had recaptured the town of Arras itself.

There were rumors the French also had retaken Amiens and Sedan, but these could not be confirmed.

When during the course of the day reports came that French troops had retaken Arras and chased a strong advance force of Germans out of Abbeville, 12 miles from the English Channel, a new wave of optimism swept over France.

The ministry of information, rallying Frenchmen from the gloom that followed the setbacks of the last few days, announced also that the bridges of the Somme River had been destroyed and a strong stand taken by the French troops to halt any southward push.

Weygand Tells French Of His Confidence

The first note of optimism was sounded by Gen. Maxime Weygand, Allied commander-in-chief, after a visit to the front, and every hour as the day wore on his words to Premier Reynaud were repeated over the national radio system:

"I am full of confidence if each man does his duty with a fierce energy."

As proof that the German drive in northern France had not cut communications between the French army and the Allied army operating in Belgium, the ministry of information said Gen. Weygand had conferred with the chiefs of command of the French and Belgian armies in the north.

RAIN AIDS ALLIES

The perfect weather which favored Hitler's Polish campaign and the blitzkrieg which he hurled against the Low Countries 12 days ago was broken last night by heavy rains.

The sky was clear again today, although fields and roads over which heavy tanks and armored cars had to move were soggy.

The break in the weather gave a slight rise to the French optimism, even though tempered by the belief that the Germans may be consolidating their forces for a new and more furious lunge.

As the Germans pressed their attack westward towards the vital Channel ports, the French army established a new front along the Somme and Aisne rivers, 200 miles across northern France.

With this defence system firmly established, the French began their counter-attack to relieve Allied troops from pressure of the German push. Their first success was the recapture of Arras. Shortly afterward the retaking of Abbeville, where German motorcyclists and French troops had fought for possession of the railroad station, was announced by the ministry of information. A spokesman there said grimly the Germans had been "chased out" of the town.

Fighting was also going on in the region of Neufchatel-sur-Aisne, 10 miles directly north of Rheims, the ministry of information said. Details were lacking.

German Forces Seen as Inadequate

A military spokesman, said the Germans would have to bring up much heavier forces than they seemed to have if they intended crossing the stream, roughly 70 miles north of Paris.

It was the failure of the French to destroy the river Meuse bridges, Premier Reynaud said yesterday, which permitted the Germans to advance so rapidly into France.

It was those Nazi troops who attacked the railway station at Abbeville.

They were apparently far ahead of the tanks and infantry, for a French military spokesman said that neither the French, holding the Somme line, nor the British in the northwestern corner of France and in Belgium, had come in contact with the main body of German troops.

Invaders Unable To Mop Up

Arras was taken yesterday by German mechanized units, apparently unsupported by infantry mopping-up forces. This morning's French communique briefly said: "Enemy pressure continued in the direction of the coast, taking the form of raids carried out by small motorized detachments.

"Arras is now in our hands. (Its recapture was the first success of the new Weygand command.)

Nazi Towns Bombed In Retaliation

"In Lorraine, the enemy having bombarded three towns behind our front, we retaliated on three towns behind the German front."

Military officials described the situation in the battle zone as highly confused, with Allied and German troops mingled in a general melee.

A war ministry spokesman said "light elements" composed of 3,000 to 4,000 men had participated in the original German capture of both Amiens and Arras.

The French declared they were holding out at Cambrai, approximately 45 miles northeast of Amiens and 20 miles east of Arras.

Speedy Action To Close Gap

The immediate task facing Gen. Weygand is to close the breach in the Allied lines through which the Germans swept westward along the Somme Valley before the Nazis can rush sufficient reinforcements through the hole to consolidate their positions.

The British Expeditionary Force was said to be bearing the brunt of the fighting in the coastal sector, fighting with rifles and machine guns against the power of Nazi mechanized forces to keep them from gaining a foothold on the Channel.

The fate of Gen. Giraud, commander of the Meuse River sector, reported yesterday by the Germans to have been captured, remained uncertain.

Heads Allied Armies

New chief of the Allied armies in their war with Germany is Gen. Maxine Weygand, 73-year-old World War military leader.

Blows Prevent Nazi Line Extension

LONDON (CP) — Swift Allied counterblows on land and in the air against German mechanized forces in the French Abbeville region have averted for the present completion of a threatened Nazi line to the English Channel which would pen in the British army, a spokesman declared tonight.

The Allied military position shows a slight improvement for the first time in five days, he said.

The French have announced recapture of Abbeville and Arras.

Nazi Statements Less Sure Today

By the Canadian Press

Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press correspondent with the German armies, reported today that "the Germans are aware that they have not yet made contact with the main Allied forces."

Colonel General Walther von Reichenau was represented as waiting for a telephoned order from Hitler to attack with the German right wing against 500,000 Allied troops in Flanders.

Associated Press dispatches from Berlin today reflected a more subdued tone in the pronouncements of the German military leaders.

The main German army in northern France was said to be bracing itself for a hard counter-attack by the Allied forces under the command of General Maxime Weygand.

"It may be that our present movements will come to a temporary halt," General Walther von Reichenau, German field commander, was quoted as saying. "Weygand has ordered every man to stand his ground. That may mean hard fights ahead."

Attlee Says Nazis Lack Staying Power

LONDON (CP)—Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal in the war cabinet, in a broadcast tonight declared "the enemy cannot stand a long war," and then told the Empire of the conscription of wealth and manpower in Great Britain.

"There is no distinction between rich and poor. . . . The services of all must be put to the common task," Mr. Attlee said.

"The government now has power to control any business, bank, crops or factory," he said. "It can take property, but in the exercise of this power it will do everything to avoid injustices. It will work closely with labor."

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Store—or any druggist — a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost.

'HOLD ON, VICTORY COMING'--- REYNAUD

PARIS (CP-Havas) — Premier Reynaud today told newspapermen: "If we hold on a month . . . we shall be three-quarters of the way to victory" in the war against Germany.

The Premier said General Maxime Weygand, new commander-in-chief of the Allied forces, back from a lightning visit to the front, had told him: "I am full of confidence, provided everyone does his duty with fierce energy."

"The civilian population," Premier Reynaud said, "must not be frightened by the raids of motorized troops, similar to raids of cavalry in former times, whose audacity can cost them dearly.

"The people must remain at their work. Any reduction in production is a weakening of the country. Orders to this effect have been given to civil and military authorities. I repeat: If we hold on for a month—and we will hold on as long as need be—we shall be three-quarters of the way to victory."

R.A.F. POUNDS GERMAN CENTRES

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry announced tonight that "large-scale bombing attacks" were made on German main lines and communications at Namur, Dinant and Aachen (Aix-la-Chapelle) last night.

Simultaneously other large formations of bombers scored many direct hits on bridges, railway junctions and rolling stock in Rhenish Prussia, the Air Ministry said.

In Norway, the Stavanger airdrome was bombed again Tuesday night.

The bulletin added that five bombers failed to return from Tuesday's day and night bombing operations, but said "at least 24 enemy aircraft were destroyed or seriously damaged by our fighters."

Eight British fighters also were missing.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD DROWNS AT GANGES

Joe Robert Crawford, eight years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. David William Crawford, Fulford Harbor, Ganges, was drowned at Ganges yesterday afternoon, according to a Provincial Police report today. A doctor attended as soon as the body was recovered from the water, but efforts to revive the boy failed. It is not known here yet how the lad met with the accident.

The boy was born in Vancouver and had lived on Salt Spring Island for the last six years. The body was brought here today and is now resting at Sands Funeral Parlor. Funeral will be held tomorrow at 1.30, with Canon F. A. P. Chadwick officiating. He will be buried at Royal Oak. Deceased is survived by his parents and a brother, Leonard.

Batice Surrenders?

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

WITH THE GERMAN ARMIES ON THE WESTERN FRONT (AP)—The fortress of Batice, one of the fortification works around Liege, Belgium, capitulated today as we stood on heights between Eupen and Malmedy with a superb commanding view of the whole region, most of it now in German hands.

(There was no immediate confirmation of this report from other sources, either Allied or German).

Artillery, followed by bomb-diving warplanes, cleared the way for entry of the infantry.

Eire Belgians Called

DUBLIN (CP)—The Belgian legation here today called to the colors all Belgians living in Eire.

U.S. LAUNCHES ANTI-SPY DRIVE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt asked Congress today to approve transfer of the immigration and naturalization service from the Labor to the Justice Department, thereby to enable the United States government to "deal quickly" with aliens whose conduct "conflicts with the public interest."

"The startling sequence of international events," Mr. Roosevelt said in a message, has necessitated a review of the measures required for the nation's safety."

This review, he said, disclosed a "pressing need" for the suggested transfer.

While legislative and executive action against espionage activities gained momentum outside, the U.S. Supreme Court was asked for an "authoritative construction" of the 1917 act which forbids spying at any place "connected with the national defence."

If applied too broadly, the act could be held unconstitutional, the court was told by counsel for Mikhail Nicholas Gorin, and Hafis Salich, convicted in southern California of violating the act

ITALY CASTING EYES AT MALTA

ROME (AP) — Italian newspapers boasted today — on the first anniversary of the Rome-Berlin military pact—that the alliance had served to hold British warships in the Mediterranean, and French army divisions along the Italian frontier while the Nazis were striking at the western front.

The papers hinted Italy hoped for a suitable reward.

One paper, exulting over advances of the German army, forecast Italy would take the Mediterranean Island of Malta away from Britain.

Il Resto del Carlino, extremist paper at Bologna, urged the Nazis on against Britain, declaring that "every bayonet in the back of a fugitive Englishman avenges infamies suffered by humanity."

"Our joy in these days," this paper said, "will be exceeded when we see certain big battleships disappear from our sea (Mediterranean) and the Italian flag rise victorious on the highest tower of Italian Malta."

Would Give 10,000 Planes

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A Maryland branch of the "National Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies," has proposed a gift of 10,000 airplanes from the United States to the Allied high command.

The planes would be built with a federal appropriation, and transferred to the Allies through Canada, said Dr. Arthur O. Lovejoy, professor emeritus of philosophy at Johns Hopkins University and chairman of the newly-organized branch.

Fernie Acquittal

FERNIE, B.C. (CP)—Walter Haile was free today of a murder charge, laid in connection with the death of William Ingram, elderly Fernie businessman.

He was acquitted by an assize court jury last night of the slaying, for which Roy Savage, alias Whitehouse, has been sentenced to be hanged September 25.

James Albert Morgan was acquitted Monday of the same charge, which was laid after Ingram was bludgeoned to death last November.

U.S. Navy Vote Totals $1,458,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1,458,000,000 navy appropriation bill, including both regular and emergency naval funds, was approved and sent to the United States Senate today by its appropriations committee.

The chamber was expected to take up the new measure as soon as it completed consideration of a $1,823,252,724 army supply bill, passage of which was expected today.

The full appropriations committee, in a 15-minute session, approved the action of its subcommittee in adding $472,000,000 in direct appropriations and contract authority to the regular supply bill which already had passed both houses and was withdrawn from a Senate-House of Representatives conference committee.

MORE PLANES, MEN

As approved by the committee, the bill would provide approximately $100,000,000 in cash and $100,000,000 in contract authority for emergency expansion of the navy air force. It also would provide the money to expand the navy's enlisted personnel to 170,000 men and to boost the marine corps personnel to 34,000 men.

The House naval committee meanwhile voted tentatively to authorize the Secretary of the Navy to spend $10,000,000 on auxiliary naval air bases located wherever he considers them necessary on the continental United States.

The sum approved was in addition to $123,132,000 proposed in pending legislation for naval bases specifically named.

Republican efforts to modify President Roosevelt's defence recommendations were overriden as the Senate pressed the record peacetime army bill toward passage.

COALITION TALK IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Indications President Roosevelt might take some "dollar-a-year" men into the administration came from the White House today in the midst of coalition government talk aroused by Alf. M. Landon's visit here to confer with the President.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said that "the President has no intention whatever of creating any involved, complex machine for national defence or for emergency reasons." He added that any persons brought into the government would cooperate with rather than supersede present government officials.

In addition to these persons, Early indicated, Mr. Roosevelt may appoint three more administrative assistants to help him in the task of leading the U.S. rearmament program.

Memorial Intact

LONDON (CP) — Canada's Vimy Memorial, unveiled on the famous ridge in 1936 by King Edward VIII, apparently has escaped the fury of the present war—temporarily at least.

Correspondents returning to London from the northern French-Belgian front said the giant monument, 11 miles from Arras, had missed the fighting in the area up to yesterday.

Communications Broken

ROME (AP)—Telephone communications between Rome and Paris were interrupted this afternoon. Previously those between Rome and London had been broken. There was no immediate explanation.

PHYSICIAN GENERAL DIES—A full military funeral was held in honor of Major-General John Taylor Fotheringham, one of Canada's most distinguished physicians and soldiers. He died May 18 in his 80th year.

Many Planes for Allies

LONDON (CP)—J. J. Llewellin, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Aircraft Production, said in the House of Commons today large orders for the latest type warplanes had been placed in the United States and delivery was being rushed.

Questioned whether he would "investigate the possibility of buying wholesale quantities of airplanes from Italy," he said, "certainly."

'Kill Nazi Swine'

LONDON (CP) — Angry women screamed "kill the murdering swine" as 22 captured German fliers were landed in England today from two Belgian ships.

Military police held the women back. The prisoners, captured 20 miles from Dieppe, France, were led off to internment camps.

A Briton, who traveled in the same ship, said Dieppe had been havily bombed, and that hospital ships and other vessels in port were unable to leave because of mines laid outside.

Canadians Quit Britain

LONDON (CP)—A feeling that the United Kingdom may soon be subjected to Nazi air raids is causing an exodus of Canadians. The Canadian Pacific Steamship Line is having difficulty accommodating all those wishing to leave. The outward flow is mainly composed of women and children.

Wounds Fatal

ATLIN, B.C. (CP)—Charles Rudolph, 16, who was accidentally shot through the thighs while on a hunting trip with his father at Gladys Lake on May 16, died here yesterday. He was rushed here by plane for medical attention.

RED CROSS SEEKS QUICK SUPPLIES

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Red Cross Society today issued a special call to all branches and auxiliaries in Canada to send all finished supplies as soon as possible to headquarters here to replenish supplies issued to the British, French, Belgian and Dutch Red Cross Societies for use in the war area.

An emergency meeting voted to give $100,000 in cash and 100,000 surgical dressings to the French Red Cross immediately. These dressings will be taken from stocks in Canadian warehouses in England.

SPEED UP IN U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Red Cross speeded up its campaign for a $10,000,000 war relief fund today after receiving word that between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 Belgian and French refugees were fleeing terror-stricken toward southern France.

Soviet Refuses Policy Change

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Molotoff, according to Tass, the Soviet news agency, has informed Great Britain Russia "cannot subordinate the trade policy of the U.S.S.R. to the war aims of any foreign state," in connection with newly-reopened British-Russian trade negotiations.

"Being a sovereign state, the Soviet Union will carry on its foreign trade both with belligerents and neutrals on the basis of principles of complete equality of parties and recipocity of obligations," Molotoff said.

Britain has sought to limit Russian trade with Germany in seeking a trade agreement with Moscow.

The Soviet gave new assurances, however, that proposed imports from Britain were intended for its own requirements and not for re-export, presumably to Germany.

Refugees Interned

LONDON (CP)—A score of Dutch and Belgian refugees brought to England in British ships were interned today as possible "fifth columnists" on information from the continent. The action was taken as the government ordered all war refugees to comply with restrictions placed on enemy aliens.

Want Tax Modified

TORONTO (CP)—Hope that the Dominion government will modify existing excess profits tax legislation was expressed here today by Hugh H. Lawson, Toronto business executive, at the First International Credit Men's Congress.

By easing control of excess profits the government could help industry set up inventory reserves which would contribute to Canada's financial security in the "inevitable" post-war deflation period, Mr. Lawson said.

Federal Government Considers Wide Control

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion government has given consideration to "measures that may be necessary" in the present emergency, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons this afternoon.

He was replying to a question from Conservative Leader R. B. Hanson based on news of the sweeping power given the British government today by the Parliament in London to conscript wealth and labor.

Mr. Hanson asked if the Canadian government was giving consideration to taking similar steps.

Beyond his brief reply, Mr. King stated he could not say anything.

Before Parliament met, party leaders approved the decision of the British Parliament to grant such powers to the government.

Mr. Hanson said if the circumstances demanded such action he was "all for it." It was quite possible such action would eventually prove necessary in Canada, he said.

M. J. Coldwell, member for Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., and spokesman for the Co-operative Commonwealth Party, said he was sure his group would commend the British government's move.

"Now, at long last, with labor representation in the British government, they are doing it," he said. "It should have come at the very start of the war."

News From Front Braces Britain

LONDON (CP) — Britain's hopes of stemming the German march to the sea and the vital Channel ports rose today with reports of new air force successes and the slowing down of the intensive German mechanized drive.

The nation was cheered by these developments:

The French recapture of Arras.

A widespread attack on targets in the industrial Rhineland area by Royal Air Force bombers.

The lessening force of the German thrust over soggy fields in northern France.

R.A.F. PLANE ATTACKS 20

The arrival of a new contingent of Canadians in England.

The high morale of the R.A.F. was indicated in an air ministry announcement that one British pilot had attacked 20 German bombers, damaged two and escaped.

The Allied forces in Flanders and northern France are fighting desperately to keep the Germans from winning their way to the Channel.

The British people snapped out of the shock occasioned by "black Tuesday's" news that Amiens and Arras had fallen in northwestern France and declared through the press and public leaders that they were ready to take worse shocks if necessary, and that their faith was unshaken.

FAIL AT COAST

The military commentator of the London Daily Herald in discussing the chances of success of a German invasion of the British Isles remarked: "There have been continental conquerors in the past, but in some strange indefinable way their magic touch has seemed to cease at the seashore."

The British expressed confidence that Gen. Maxime Weygand, new supreme commander of the Allied land forces, could be counted on to take advantage of the first opportunity to deal a blow at the German's elongated left flank.

The German successes, however, chased away any remaining traces of apathy in this island, which once found much comfort in its Channel defences. Both employers and labor expressed themselves as ready to accept any sacrifices demanded by the government.

TIME DECISIVE

The London Daily Express, newspaper of Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production, declared: "The tenacity of our race will be our salvation. For if we can hold on and hold out for the next few weeks and months, ours is the assurance of final victory."

Newspapers also pointed to supplies from the United States as a valuable asset for the Allies.

The London News Chronicle commented: "The great nation of the United States is awakening from its isolation and help in ever-increasing strength will soon be on its way across the ocean."

German bombs were jettisoned on British soil during the night, but there were no casualties reported. A communique indicated the raiding planes were unloading bombs without aiming at any target when they were beaten back by anti-aircraft fire.

Australia to Send 3rd Division

CANBERRA (AP) — Prime Minister R. G. Menzies announced in Parliament today that Australia would start immediately to raise a third division for service overseas.

His announcement came two days after Canada had announced plans for raising a third division.

The first troops from "down under" to leave for service in the European conflict arrived in Suez, Egypt, on February 12. They included Australians and New Zealanders and totaled about 30,000 men, according to estimates.

Mr. Menzies today also announced the appointment of Essington Lewis as director-general of munitions, with supreme authority to reorganize government undertakings and the use of private factories.

CONFIDENCE TONE OF FRENCH PRESS

PARIS (CP-Havas)—"Let us have confidence!" the entire French press urged today.

Henri de Kerillis in L'Epoque wrote: "This is a war of material, to be sure, and soon, thanks to America, we shall have superiority in material. . . It is not two people which confront each other, but two immense factories advancing against each other. Ours must in the end be the strongest, extending now to the United States and Canada."

Pertinax, in L'Ordre, wrote: "Let this thought sustain us—the present juncture is as grave for our enemies as for us. Behind France and Great Britain, immense resources will be mobilized against the invader."

Canada to Get 2 New Destroyers

OTTAWA (CP)—More men, more money and more ships form the government's answer today to charges of complacency towards the struggle right now in its most crucial stage in France.

The picture of what Canada has done and plans to do in this war was made clearer as Defence Minister Rogers and Finance Minister Ralston yesterday outlined to the House of Commons the government's immediate war plans.

While the measure before the House was the war appropriations bill, providing for expenditure of $700,000,000 on war in the fiscal year, 1940-41, the defence minister revealed that:

Another contingent of Canadian troops has arrived in the United Kingdom. They are certain ancillary units and further reinforcements for the First Division.

Two new destroyers of the Tribal class "are being constructed" in Britain for Canada. They will give Canada nine destroyers.

RECRUITING TO START

Recruiting of corps troops will begin immediately. Recruiting of the third Division will proceed progressively as units are selected to make up the division, the first of these selections to be made "as soon as possible."

Regarding the Prime Minister's announcement of Monday that the second Division would proceed overseas earlier than first intended, a message of warm appreciation had been received from the United Kingdom with assurance of aid in facilitating the troop movement, Mr. Rogers said. This did not mean the second Division would proceed immediately.

SPEED NEEDED

A resolution was adopted giving government business precedence over all private members' business.

Mr. Rogers made brief reference to "some idle words" spoken in the House and urged members to avoid recrimination.

He urged the closest scrutiny of the government's record. "We desire it because we believe that when it is known in all its details, as these are presented from time to time, it will be accepted as a progressive developing effort entirely worthy of the people of this country."

The Defence Minister described his recent trip to the United Kingdom and France, his inspections of Canadian troops at Aldershot and discussions with leading British officials. He praised the Canadian officers and men and described how numbers under mobilization had risen from 22,878 four days before Canada entered the war to 83,294, exclusive of reinforcements, on May 20.

CONFIDENCE IN FRENCH

Mr. Rogers expressed confidence the French army would recover from the present lightning mechanized thrust of the Germans and reform its front to meet the enemy with ultimate success.

"The French military genius is capable of adapting itself to a war of rapid movement without the defensive aid of concrete blockhouses and fixed emplacements," he said. "It has been done before. If our lines are threatened, so are the enemy's, and every mile of penetration extends their lines of communication and exposes them to the flank attacks of fresh troops and the telling blows of the bombers of the Royal Air Force."

Mr. Ralston recognized the amounts of money mentioned in the House in the last "two days were huge for a country of Canada's size, but the question was not how little but how much the country could contribute.

Canada's effort would be only limited by its capacity in meeting this "greatest world crisis of all time."

The Finance Minister made clear that as much as possible of the amount to be spent on war would be raised by taxation. Only after that would the government resort to borrowing.

Unions Expelled

Trades Council Ousts Groups

VANCOUVER (CP) — Seventeen union locals were expelled last night from the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council because they had refused to withdraw delegates believed by the labor governing body to be Communists.

The action was taken in compliance with instructions from the American Federation of Labor, and followed the recent expulsion of three delegates and several other union locals for the same reason.

The expulsions were made by Charles Hughes, special A.F. of L. Representative from Seattle, who said the locals "stand suspended until they notify the council of their intention to obey the law of the A.F. of L. and take action to do so."

Forty delegates representing the 17 unions withdrew quietly after Hughes had made his statement.

Unions ordered out were:

Local 468, Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Union, International Union of America.

Local 1, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers, International Union of America.

Local 42, International Jewelry Workers of America.

Local 69, International Printing Pressman and Assistants' union of North America.

Local 281, International Molders of America.

Local 306, Upholsterers' International Union of North America.

Local 190, United Garment Workers of America.

Local 18177, Stenographers, typists, bookkeepers and assistants, A.F. of L.

Local 954, Glassworkers, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America.

Local 115, International Union of Operating Engineers.

Local 279, International Protective Association of Retail Clerks.

Local 28, Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance.

Local 566 (Paint Makers) Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America.

Local 213, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers,

Federal Union 94, Butcher Workers and Meat Cutters (Trades and Labor Congress of Canada).

Federal Union 44, United Fishermen of B.C. and B.C. Seamen's Union, Seafarers, International Union of North America.

In addition, two other unions remain suspended as a result of earlier withdrawals, the Railway Carmen and Stereotypers.

The Sheet Metal Workers' Union 314, on the other hand, which withdrew its affiliation from the council, was reinstated

Reopens Bren Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—Notice of a question to be put to the government by Percy E. Wright, C.C.F., Melfort, Sask., returning the controversial contract for manufacture of Bren guns to the floor of the Commons has appeared on the order paper.

The member will ask the total amount paid to date under terms of the contract with the John Inglis Company, Toronto, for manufacture of the light machine guns, the estimated amount remaining for the government to pay, and, on that basis, the estimated cost to the Canadian government for each complete Bren gun.

Wants Clothing Data

OTTAWA (CP)—W. K. Esling, Conservative, Kootenay West, intends to ask for production in Parliament of all orders, complete with prices, for supplying Canada's forces with uniforms, underwear, socks and boots, during June, July, August and September of 1939.

Prisoners Exchanged

BERNE, Switzerland (AP)—France and Germany carried out their second exchange of civilian prisoners through the Swiss Red Cross yesterday, 92 French nationals entering France by way of Geneva and 65 Germans returning home by way of Schaffhausen.

Those involved were all women, children or invalided men, except seven French Dominican friars from Warsaw.

No 'Protection' Wanted

NEW YORK (AP) — Mme. Magda Lupescu, longtime favorite of King Carol of Rumania, arrived in southern France today en route to the United States, the New York Daily News said in a copyrighted dispatch from Paris.

For many years an influence in Rumanian politics because of her friendship with the king, Mme. Lupescu also was reported by the newspaper to have rejected a Nazi offer to induce Carol to place the kingdom under "German protection."

Lone Briton Blocks Germans For Moment

LONDON (CP)—A Royal Air Force pilot told today of standing alone in the midst of a burning French town and, for one long moment, blocking the vanguard of German hosts advancing westward toward the sea.

Red-eyed and weary from 10 days of "Hell on land and in the air," the pilot said he had "thrown a kiss at them" a hand grenade—and then escaped with bullets flying around him. . . . Here's his story:

"In a town that lay directly ahead of their drive to the Channel I was checking to see that nothing had been left behind for Jerry to use. Standing in the street by my car, I looked over my shoulder and there they were.

"There were 12 of them walking through the smoke of burning buildings. There were no tanks or armored cars or even planes, although three Junkers 88's had bombed the town to pieces a few minutes before. These fellows walked on steadily out of the smoke into the sunlight.

"I saw their grey uniforms, heavy black boots and flat helmets. They held rifles at their hips like a lot of deer stalkers.

"There wasn't much that I could do. I couldn't get in my car because it was pointing towards them. I grabbed a grenade off a rack at the wheel and let it fly.

"They hadn't even fired a shot. It got one on the left and blew in the side of a farm cart and—very important to me—gave me an exit.

"I legged it up the street to the first turn, dashed down there, climbed through a ruined house and ran across a field beyond.

"Their bullets were knocking spots out of the ground under my feet and look—one clipped my hair and took off my hat. Finally I ran into some of our chaps in a truck and they took me off."

More Canadians Reach England

A WEST COAST BRITISH PORT (CP)—When a new contingent of Canadian troops arrived here yesterday the men were greeted at the quayside by relatives of the Tommies fighting with backs to the wall on the other side of the Channel.

As on earlier occasions when Dominion fighting men reached these shores there were enthusiastic cheers and smiles. But this welcome was more impressive perhaps than any other; the crowds were sobered by news of Germany's thrust toward the motherland.

The contingent comprises a number of auxiliary units and further reinforcements for several branches of the Canadian Active Service Force.

Immediately after disembarking the columns entrained for their various stations, where an intensive training program awaits the men. Officials from Canadian military headquarters were at the dockside and welcomed the troops.

The ocean trip was described as "uneventful."

As the column swung away from the dock to waiting troop trains, a group of Highlanders started whistling and humming "Highland Laddie" and soon the spry air was taken up by men right down the marching line.

Sergeant John Edward Smith of Montreal related he had "left a good job with the C.P.R. and left my wife and three children because I considered it my duty to help rid the world of the German gangsters."

Urges Mr. King Resign

OTTAWA (CP) — A demand that Prime Minister Mackenzie King "emulate the example of Neville Chamberlain" and resign his office to some other member of his following was made in the House of Commons last night by Alan Cockeran, Conservative, South York, Ont.

GLOUCESTER IN 4 BOMBINGS

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Gloucester narrowly escaped death in an air raid on a French town Sunday night.

The hotel in which he was staying was hit by two German bombs. A third exploded in the roadway outside.

I was 100 yards away when the bombs exploded, and saw the Duke, unshaken and calm, emerge from the cellar where he had had supper with cavalry officer friends.

A short time later he helped get out messages to general headquarters, working side by side at an improvised desk with a grizzled sergeant-major while a burning truck lit the street.

This was the fourth bombing the soldierly third son of the late King George V had undergone. Once he was wounded in the right hand by a bomb splinter. Now he offers his left hand in greeting. Still "Henry" to old friends, he is popular with all ranks.

The morning after the bombing he told me he was "getting used to it" and commented:

"The Boche put on quite a show for us, didn't he?"

The Duke expects to return from London to the British Expeditionary Force soon to resume his duties as chief liaison officer between the British and French armies.

Death for Deserters

PARIS (AP)—France's new war cabinet has ordered swift punishment of military and civilian offenders.

Deserters and pillagers can be shot as soon as they are found guilty. The new decree permits no appeal to any higher court.

The army courts will deal with both soldiers and civilians summarily.

Factory workers who leave their posts without permission will be classified as army deserters.

GERMANS TELL OF HARD FIGHTING

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command's communique this forenoon said:

"The break-through of German troops toward the Channel coast yesterday also was widened northwestward in the direction of St. Pol and Montreuil-Mer.

(This claim was not confirmed in Paris or London).

"Quays of the port facilities of Ostend, Dunkerque, Calais, Boulogne and Dieppe again were successfully raided by the German air force.

(There was no word of such bombings from other sources).

"In Flanders the enemy covering the retreat on the Scheldt River still offers strong resistance. At Valenciennes, the attack is under way, coupled with hard fighting against French forces concentrated in this region. Attempts of the opponents to force their way out southward near Artois via Arras have been repelled.

(The Allies recaptured Arras, it was announced in Paris today).

"At Arras, Junkers dive-bombers contributed considerably to frustrating an English tank attack.

"During the fighting concluded May 19 in Zeeland, (Holland), 16,000 French and 13,000 Dutch troops were captured by a smaller force of Germans.

"The modernized strong forts of Neufchateau which are part of the Liege fortifications have fallen.

"Twelve officers and 500 men fell into our hands.

(There was no confirmation of these claims available).

AIR CLASHES

"On May 22 the German air force, with great success, chiefly operated to disturb the enemy retreat. Several heavily used airports were raided with bombs, and runways, hangars, equipment and airplanes on the ground were destroyed.

"The stations of Compiegne and Creil are burning.

"In and outside Belgian and French ports, one cruiser, merchant and transport ships were destroyed and a number of other ships were damaged. Speedboats of the German navy during this undertaking against French channel ports sank one enmy auxiliary cruiser.

(The only casualty at sea reported today by the British Admiralty was the naval trawler Rifsness, sunk in a bomb attack.)

"Losses of the enemy amounted yesterday to 120 airplanes, of which 35 were bagged in air fights, 14 were shot down by anti-aircraft guns and the rest were destroyed on the ground. Ten German planes are missing.

(The Allied ratio of three and four German planes brought down for every Allied machine lost continues.)

NARVIK OPERATIONS

"As previously reported in a special announcement, fighting units of the air force on May 20 attacked parts of the British fleet operating at Narvik. One battleship and one heavy cruiser sustained severe bomb hits.

"Two additional warships and three merchantmen were damaged by bombs. During another attack on May 21, one destroyer and one transport were severely hit. In the sea region of Bergen, five smaller Norwegian naval vessels were safeguarded by our own naval forces and taken over by the German navy

(No confirmation of any of these naval claims is available).

"The fight of the Narvik group against a far superior enemy force is continuing.

"Mountain troops attacking from Trondheim northward took Mo and Storforshei, 400 kilometres (about 250 miles) north of Trondheim. These troops captured numerous Norwegians and English operating there. The latter, who had embarked from England as early as May 7, first went to Narvik, then shifted to Mo.

(These claims were not confirmed. The Allied siege of Narvik is continuing).

"In the course of the night of May 21-22, enemy airplanes aimlessly dropped bombs in western Germany which fell mostly in open fields. Military objectives were not hit.

"Two enemy planes were shot down by anti-aircraft defences."

(The Royal Air Force last night bombed railway junctions, yards and bridges over a wide area of Germany).

Many in East Urge U.S. Join Allies

SPOKANE (AP)—War fever is definitely sweeping the eastern part of the United States, Raymond P. Kelly, president of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, said on his return from New York and Washington.

Kelly attended the United States Chamber of Commerce meeting and the annual convention of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

"The sentiment was much more noted for our entrance into the war in the east," he said. "Many times I heard the statement that we were only hiding our heads in the sand and should get into the war at once.

Queries Nickel Export

OTTAWA (CP) Extent and destination of Canadian nickel exports for the year ended March 31, 1940, will be asked in the Commons by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., according to the order paper today.

Mr. Coldwell will also ask what amounts of nickel and nickel matte were exported each month to the Falconbridge Nikkelark Aktieselkap of Kristiansand, Norway.

Arsenal Explosion

LONDON (CP)—A slight explosion occurred early today in a section of the Woolwich Arsenal and one man was reported injured. A fire followed the blast, but was quickly extinguished. It was stated the general output of the department would not be seriously affected.

Vien Deputy Speaker

OTTAWA (CP) — Thomas Vien, Liberal, Montreal-Outremont, was elected deputy speaker of the House of Commons yesterday. He succeeds F. G. Sanderson, Liberal, Perth, Ont., who held that office during the last parliament.

Pattern for Canada?

GREAT BRITAIN TOOK PARLIAMENTary action this evening which even the rabid Socialist of this or any other time would have considered completely outside the realm of possibility. The British people witnessed the introduction and passage of legislation which requires all persons "to place themselves, their services and their property at the disposal of His Majesty for securing the public safety, the defence of the realm, the maintenance of public order," and, generally, to submit to anything the state considers advisable and necessary in view of the "grave peril in which the nation stands today."

As he introduced the measure in question, Mr. Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal, assured the House and the public that the government was not asking powers in "any spirit of panic," but because it considered instant action to be necessary if the common enemy were to be met with sufficient force to defeat him. And the powers now taken are nothing if not far-reaching: Industrial business, the banks, and the finances of the country will come immediately under strict government control; "persons and property, rich or poor, employer or employee, man or woman," Mr. Attlee explained, will be thoroughly mobilized in the interests of the state; in other words, no service, material or human, will be permitted to escape this national scheme of conscription.

This is a new declaration of war on Hitler's Germany with a vengeance. And it is a declaration which not only will have the support of the unbeatable British people; it will demonstrate to the world at large that even one of the bulwarks of democracy and democratic usage can adapt itself to the circumstances of the hour. The head of the Nazi hierarchy has driven John Bull to a point at which he will make his stand—a stand, incidentally, fashioned on Hitler's own principle of state control of the human and material elements. But the new strength on which Great Britain is now about to draw has its source in the hearts and minds of a people who know their cause is right, a people who might recoil at much that has been done and will be done in the name of necessity if the hammering at the gates was not so insistent. It may be too much to expect, perhaps, that Adolf Hitler's philosophy will permit him to read into today's business at Westminster the beginning of his end. He would be a dolt indeed, however, who did not discover in the passage of this legislation something which may even baffle the inventive genius of the Herr Doktor Goebbels. Within three hours, a Parliament dominated by those who, in ordinary times, are implacable opponents of anything savoring of Socialism or Socialistic tendencies enthusiastically swallowed an unequivocal edict which makes no distinction between the man who owns a castle and a great fortune and the man who lives in a slum and is not always sure when, or if, he will eat.

British peoples everywhere will herald this as much more than a final warning to Hitler and his crowd; they will see in it some of the requisites of a just peace—at home as well as abroad. The first Great War brought about long-overdue reforms to Britain's social structure. This is not the time to speculate on the future. It is time, however to congratulate the British Parliament on what it has done. And we may assume that throughout the length and breadth of Canada those who feel the government at Ottawa is not pulling its full weight for the Allied cause will now recommend that Mr. King take a leaf out of Mr. Churchill's book and subject this country to a process of human and material conscription and mobilization similar to that for which Westminster took authority today.

Banker and Tourists

SPEAKING TO THE FIRST INTERNAtional Credit Men's Congress in Toronto yesterday, Mr. B. C. Gardner, assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal, voiced a plea to United States visitors to help the Allied cause by bringing their funds in American dollars for conversion in Canada. Purchase of Canadian currency made in the open "block" markets operating in many United States cities, he argued, would "restrict our ability to buy your goods." He emphasized the fact, too, that Canada must make every effort to increase her exports to the neighboring republic and be prepared to economize on nonessential imported products, because in this way "our American dollars may be used first to pay for things needed indispensably for war purposes."

Canadian Protestant Chaplain-General Bishop Wells, in Saskatoon last Saturday, demanded the immediate cessation of foreign tourist trade in Canada. He condemned the special campaign to induce holidaymakers to come to this country—a campaign aided by a special invitation sent to the people of the United States over the signature of Prime Minister Mackenzie King—and wanted to know "what nation became great on its tourist traffic? and what good will tourists do us?" There are critics of Canada's war effort who seem unable to see further than the end of their noses. To them we still say that a steady flow of American dollars to this country for the purchase of airplanes, and other equally urgent means of fighting Hitler of which Britain stands in need, may be a very great deal more useful to the Allied cause than is generally understood.

Better News

AS WE WRITE THE NEWS FROM France continues to brighten. Premier Reynaud has become more optimistic. He thinks if the Allies can hold the Nazi juggernaut for another month "we shall be three-quarters of the way to victory." General Weygand had told him he was "full of confidence—provided everyone does his duty with fierce energy." Prime Minister Churchill, accompanied by naval, military and air advisers, paid a short visit to France today and conferred with both the head of the government and the commander-in-chief. What transpired, of course, we do not know.

What is important at this stage, however, is the fact that General Weygand appears to have created a new spirit in both Britain and France and among those who are directly charged with the actual fighting. Psychological values are important at this stage. Beating a retreat, no matter how orderly, furnishes little inspiration. There is always a positive objective in attack. The Allied forces are battling for their lives, battling a ruthless invader, and their aim is definite. They can be expected to do their duty with the "fierce energy" of which their leader speaks.

Legal Aid

TO BE COMMENDED IS THE WORK of the Legal Aid Bureau of the Victoria Bar Association under Mr. R. D. Harvey, chairman, and Mr. J. G. Ruttan, secretary. Marking the conclusion of its first two years, Mr. H. J. Davis, president of the Victoria Bar Association, has made public the records of the bureau, showing the time and labor spent by members of the profession in this meritorious work. The activities are confined chiefly to the Police Court, where needy persons have received advice and been represented. One case was conveyed through the County Court by way of speedy trial by two junior members of the bureau. In another case an accused was represented at the spring assizes this year.

Unfortunately, there have been impositions. In one case an accused person took much of a counsel's time and then when an appeal was taken found means of employing other counsel, proving that he was able to employ counsel in the first instance. In another case, two junior members of the bar represented an accused at his trial and were complimented by the trial judge. Later, when an appeal was taken on a new trial, the accused found money to employ and pay counsel.

Such instance of abuse, however, are isolated, and it is well in the interests of the administration of justice that the bureau is continuing to function. Its work has been fittingly referred to in the Legislature. Favorable comment has been forthcoming from the Attorney-General, from Judge Shandley, Magistrate Hall and justices of the higher courts. All of these have co-operated with members of the Bar in this work. The public, however, has known little of the activities of the bureau. Mr. Davis is justified in taking steps to make the facts known outside the profession. They will aid in correcting an erroneous impression held by some to the effect that the profession is inclined to be anti-social in its outlook. To members of the profession is due credit for the sacrifices they are making in the interests of the less fortunate, who are usually those most in need of legal aid.

Literally or Noise Campaign?

THE ITALIAN ANTI-ALLIED CAMpaign continues with "student" demonstration and flowery editorials, one in Foreign Minister Ciano's paper saying Italy has territorial ambitions in Europe and Africa.

It is still impossible to discover whether these threats should be taken literally or merely as part of a noise campaign to keep a certain number of Allied troops ready on the Franco-Italian border and out of the west-front fray. This might be Premier Mussolini's way of helping his friend, Adolf Hitler, without running too much risk himself.

In many quarters it is believed Italy is virtually prepared to jump in on Germany's side, but is hesitating because she fears that will prove the wrong side for a territorially-ambitious nation. Italy cannot fight a long war because she has insufficient supplies and virtually no chance of getting any more, trapped as she would become if the Allies closed the Mediterranean gates against her.

FOUL TACTICS

From Winnipeg Free Press

In a dispatch from London the other day, Gerard Jouve described the horror of Nazi penetration to a Dutch city. He recounted the combined activities of the parachute-soldiers, the troops landed by plane, and the "fifth column" vermin. A paragraph from that despatch revealed a particularly foul situation. Jouve noted:

"Snipers concealed in buildings and on rooftops—many of the "good" Germans who had sought refuge in the hospitable Netherlands as enemies of the Nazi regime—methodically picked off the Dutch in the streets below."

Tactics like that are worse than anything done by the wild savages during the Indian wars on this continent a century or so ago. They disclose a mentality of the most despicable kind: but a kind that the Nazis prize above all. Ferocity, brutality, inhumanity . . . such are the indices of Hitler and his minions.

It is to be hoped, if among the Nazi refugees which England gave harborage to there are many slimy "fifth columnists," that Sir John Anderson's measures to emasculate their planned assault upon Britain's national integrity are sufficiently stringent. When democracy is fighting for its very life, it has every reason to be grimly efficient in handling backstabbers.

IN GOD WE TRUST?

AS I LISTENED to the radio report of Premier Reynaud's speech, telling of the German advance to the Channel ports, and the loss in a single day of positions which tens of thousands of Canadians once gave their lives to win and hold, I thought back to the darkest days of 1918. Then Ludendorff was vainly trying to do what Hitler has now done. Then Haig issued his famous backs-to-the-wall message to the troops and asked the people at home to pray. Then Currie followed suit with a piece of rhetoric which looks fine in the school books now, but seemed silly and theatrical to the boys in the front line then. Those around me muttered some very rude comments when they read those words that "the Canadian Corps must die," and that their mothers would not mourn them because they would "fade into immortality."

They did not want to die, or fade into immortality, any more than any of the rest of us want to die now. But if they had to die they preferred to do it without a lot of oratory, which sounds all right in plays but silly in real life.

IN THOSE DAYS I never knew one single soul anywhere who believed that we could lose the war. We might lose Vimy Ridge, Arras, Abbeville and all the Channel ports. We might lose Paris. But we would win in the end, because the British Empire was the greatest agency for progress and righteousness in the world, and God was with us. That is what the overwhelming majority of us believed then, whether we were in the front line or thousands of miles out in the faraway corners of the earth.

Now we are not so sure. Probably not 10 per cent of the people believe that the British Empire is what it should be. Hundreds of thousands of the boys who are now trying to stop the Frankenstein German monster, with pathetically inadequate equipment, came from homes which had had no steady income since the last war. Between the wars there were many more unemployed in Britain alone than there are now men in all her army. Two years ago in the very city in which I write, gangs of young boys were marching about the streets (skillfully organized by exploiting Communists) demanding what? The right to a decent steady job at fair pay.

"I believe in miracles," says Premier Reynaud, that great little fighter, who will prove to be as great a man as any man that France has ever produced in time of need. And as I hear his words I open a letter from a dear old lady—a letter which closes thus: "The Lord will have to perform a miracle to deliver us; and He will."

IS GOD ON OUR SIDE in this war, or is he neutral? I do not believe that Napoleon was right when he said that God was on the side with the most artillery. I do not believe Hitler was right last September, when he said before overrunning Poland that God helps those who help themselves. I do not believe that the Prussians were right when they took as their motto "Gott mit uns," nor that the Kaiser was right when he altered the relationship, demoting the Almighty to junior partnership.

I do not believe that God can ever be enlisted, much less conscripted, in any army, but rather that the door is always open for nations, and men, to enlist on the side of God.

I believe in miracles. I believe that God might yet save this thing we call the British Empire, and the other larger thing we call freedom or democracy. But I do not believe that we will be saved by any power anywhere unless, and until, we admit that the world as we have ordered it does not altogether deserve to be saved on the basis of its own record.

FLANDERS, 1940

The Legions of the Past? There! At your side
Onward to glorious liberty—they stride!
Remember men—their 'spirit' never died!

For Peace, goodwill, and not for worldly gain—
Let not their sacrifice be all in vain,
Vanquish a Godless enemy again!

Remember then this sacrifice they made,
This tragic debt that yet must be repaid.
Fight! That your world be once again remade!

Let faith and courage be your mighty shields!
Remember that a Briton never yields!
Forget not, ever, 'Flanders Poppied Fields''

CANADA'S EFFORT

From Vancouver Province

Reflecting the temper of the country, Parliament got down to work at once on Monday. As the Prime Minister put it, the country wanted action without words, and Parliament cleared its decks for action. Now it is for the government to present its program.

The Prime Minister's speech was a reply to the charges that the government had been too complacent and had been moving too slowly. The reply did not exactly dispose of the charge, but it did explain how mechanization had complicated matters in this war as compared with the last one, and had laid emphasis on training and the provision of equipment.

It gave assurances, too, that Canada's effort would be speeded up in accordance with the need, that the air-training scheme, on which so much stress has been laid, would be accelerated, that the Second Division would go overseas as soon as transports could be provided, that a Third Division would be built up and steps taken at once to recruit reinforcements.

Canada, it was pointed out, is engaged in the biggest effort, military, financial and economic, in her history. This year she will spend $700,000,000 on the war, and her expenditure on ordinary matters will bring her total outlay up to approximately $3,000,000 a day.

Mr. King made out quite a good case in his matter-of-fact way—a much better case for future performance than for past, it may be added. It is not quite enough for Canadians, contemplating the events now transpiring in western Europe, to be told that Canada is doing everything Britain has asked her to do. They would like to do even better.

"A little more and how much it is.
A little less and what worlds away."

ENLISTING THE ODD DOLLARS

From Vancouver Sun

Mr. Chris Spencer, chairman for British Columbia for the National War Savings Committee, has returned from the national capital ready to set up a provincial organization for this interesting project.

The prime design is to provide the government in wartime with investments from smaller holders of money, people who can not afford to buy a $1,000 or $100 bond. It is as simple and direct as this—if you have $4, lend it to the government and in 7½ years get back $5. This shows something better than 3 per cent interest compounded. School children will be induced to buy 25-cent stamps, to be accumulated into $4 groups.

The entire scheme is worthy of the support of every citizen, young and old. It is a breeder of thrift, an encourager to save. The rate of investment return is better than in any savings bank. Nobody connected with the scheme is to get a cent of salary. Post offices and banks will handle the business without charge; there are no commissions or rebates. The benefits are all for the small investor. Nobody may buy more than $500 worth of the certificates in any one year.

Mr. Spencer is getting together a committee that will represent all walks of life in British Columbia. Their remuneration, like his, will be in satisfaction at seeing what success can be achieved in a very sound war effort and in the benefits that must come to every citizen who thus enlists himself.

SUMMER COMPLAINT

To the Editor:—You were good enough to put an article in your paper a little while ago about 60,000 babies dying in about three years. I answered this statement and said that most of these babies died of summer complaint and stated that spiced syrup of rhubarb was a cure for it.

Most of the druggists did not understand what I meant. I wish to explain. Spiced syrup of rhubarb is often called aromatic syrup of rhubarb. You will find the formula in the United States dispensary which most drug stores keep.

TIME FOR PRAYER

To the Editor:—If all who call themselves Christians would bend their knees in earnest prayer for peace, the Prince of Peace might once more listen to our prayers and once more bring peace to this war-crazed world.

DAY OF PRAYER

To the Editor:—The urgent request of our King for a national day of prayer on May 26 is worthy of emphasis.

I would suggest your printing same each day. So much depends of the nations attitude towards God at all times, and especially these troublesome times.

CELEBRATING EMPIRE DAY

To the Editor:—It is proposed to have a "mock air raid" as one of our holiday attractions for May 24. If we were in danger of being bombed and a serious tryout of precautions necessary, no one could reasonably object, but to have such an exhibition as a thrill for the amusement of a holiday crowd seems to me to be in the worst possible taste.

When England, the heart of the Empire, is living in daily dread of a rain of death from the skies, Victoria, which boasts of being the most English city in Canada, celebrates Empire Day with a mock air raid. We Britishers who have left our dear ones behind will doubtless be "tickled to death."

Empire Day would be better celebrated by a good day's work by all hands. Canada's war effort could certainly do with it.

WHERE PRISON REFORM?

To the Editor:—Probably most of your readers recall the visit to Victoria of the Royal Commission of Penal Reform in Canada the report of which was presented to government two years ago. Its revelation of many very grave defects in the conduct and administration of Canadian prisons is not pleasant reading, nor is its contrast of the alarming increase in crime that has occurred amongst the youth of Canada of recent years with the decrease in England and Wales.

Action on the recommendations of the Royal Commission is still awaited, including the recommendation for the appointment of a permanent prison commission of the kind that has done such excellent work in Great Britain.

To secure that this and other important reforms among the 88 recommendations of the Royal Commission shall be carried out, and carried out effectively, government must have the backing of an informed and interested public. The John Howard Society in Victoria, which has the promotion of needed penal reforms as one of its objects, is therefore anxious that a large and representative body of citizens shall urge the prompt introduction of the necessary legislation.

Will those who are interested in work of the society, or in becoming a member of it, communicate with the honorary secretary at 1234 Pandora Avenue, Victoria.

H. G. WYATT.

License Totals Continue Higher

Despite a falling-off in motor licenses issued during April, totals for the first two months of the license year continued well ahead of last year, according to B.C. Police motor record statistics.

At the end of last month there were 98,359 cars registered in the province compared with 90,973 at the same time last year. This year's figure included 79,405 passenger machines and 18,954 commercial vehicles.

During April alone there were 8,910 cars licensed but in April of last year there were 9,586 registered.

Board Approves New Auditorium

Satisfaction over the construction work in the new Burnside School auditorium was expressed by Trustee Frank G. Mulliner to the City School Board Monday as the board ordered first payment on the building.

Other routine matters were dealt with by the trustees as they concluded an adjourned meeting from last week. The securing of application forms for indigents requiring spectacles was discussed by Trustees J. S. McMillan and F. A. Willis and was referred to the education committee. Trustee Mrs. A. S. Christie said a report would be forthcoming soon on the operation of the High School cafeteria which Trustee P. E. George, chairman, remarked, had operated at a loss for some time.

Attack on Christianity

LONDON (CP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury declared that "we are witnessing an assault upon Christianity and all that it means, unprecedented in its scale and violence and backed by ruthless force." Addressing a church convocation, he said the army's moral problems are being considered, but "I cannot bring myself even to mention, still less discuss them, at the moment when these brave men are fighting a life and death struggle."

Plane Speed-up

LONDON (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Aircraft Production, has appealed to all employees of airplane factories to work full speed throughout the next two week-ends.

"They are asked to work by night and by day, full overtime for the present," his appeal said.

Cattle Shipments From B.C. Down

Shipments of cattle from the range areas of British Columbia last year declined nearly 20 per cent, according to a Department of Agriculture report today.

The report shows 41,595 head of cattle shipped, compared with 50,669 head last year. The decline was general to all districts.

There were 27,271 hides shipped, about the same as in 1938.

The department notes a new development on the ranges, the slaughtering of horses for mink food. This is being done chiefly in the Ashcroft-Clinton area. The carcases are trucked to the coast and sold to mink ranchers.

With the Forces

More Parcels, More Smokes

More parcels and more of those cigarettes at 300 for a dollare are needed by Canadian soldiers overseas, writes Claud Pascoe, staff writer of the Toronto Star and a veteran of the last war, in a letter from Aldershot.

Wartime prices in England cut big inroads in a soldier's pay Major Pascoe points out. Tobacco is up threepence an ounce and a packet of 10 cigarettes, that used to cost fivepence, is now sixpence, and better brands, that sell for more than fivepence for 10, are up a penny-halfpenny.

Halfpenny booklets of 30 matches, too, are to be raised to a penny apiece, beer is a penny a pint dearer, telephone charges are up 15 per cent, postage from a penny halfpenny to twopence halfpenny on letters and from a penny to twopence for postcards. All these items are of special interest to the boys here.

For officers' messes whiskey is up 1s. 9½d. a bottle. This makes a bottle worth around 16 shillings.

The Canadian Forces Book Service has been formed for the collection of books, magazines and Canadian newspapers for distribution among the Canadian Active Service Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The new service has been created to co-ordinate into one central organization the various appeals that have already been made for reading matter for the Canadians, and incorporates "Canada's Weekly" Book Fund, which has been instrumental in collecting and distributing nearly 6,000 books, magazines, etc., among the Canadian troops.

The Canadian Forces Book Service has the official approval of, and represents in the United Kingdom, the Canadian Red Cross Society, the Canadian Y.M.C.A., the Canadian Legion and the Canadian Salvation Army for the collection of reading matter for the Canadian Forces.

A committee under the chairmanship of Sir Hewitt Skinner Bt., has been formed for the administration of the service, and A. H. Christensen, who has been responsible for "Canada's Weekly" Book Fund, will act as honorary organising secretary.

The Canadian Forces Book Service has invited the active co-operation of Canadians and all friends of Canada in providing the Canadian Forces with reading matter.

Donations and subscriptions should be sent to the Canadian Forces Book Service, 330 Gresham House, 24 Old Broad Street, London, E.C. 2.

CINCINNATI, O. (AP)—Many potential deserters and shell-shock victims will be eliminated from the United States emergency army before they ever don a uniform.

OTTAWA—The First, Second, Third and Fourth Brigades of the Canadian division again distinguished themselves in engagements on the 20 and 21, putting the Germans to flight and capturing prisoners in bayonet charges.

CARLISLE—Three trains, including a troop train, collided today on the Caledonia railway at Gretna, near this city, causing the death of at least 73 persons and fatal injuries to many others. Fire in the wreckage added to the horror of the accident.

Today's casualty list includes Sergt. James Smith, P.P.C.L.I., killed; Pte. Charles Thomas, P.P.C.L.I., killed; Pte. Louis Glazen, wounded; Sergt. Harry Hardy, missing.

Provincial Constable John Robert Burns, who, with Fire Warden Clark, was drowned in the Fraser River below Fort George a few days ago, was formerly on the police force at Duncan, and later served as a special constable at Ladysmith.

Beacon Hill Family Grows

Bird life at Beacon Hill Park is increasing daily and will continue to do so for the next month or so.

Fourteen young pheasants hatched out during the last week. A batch of eight arrived first and the remaining six made their appearance four days ago. Before the next week or two pass by, Sam Smith, bird and animal keeper, expects to have at least 25 more baby pheasants on hand. They are Golden Pheasants, Hamners, Amherst and English.

Four Elliot pheasant eggs received from Calgary are under a bantam and should hatch out soon. This will be a new variety for the park. The birds are large with a reddish coloring.

Nine baby bantams, a few days old, are running around after their mother in the deer pen. The hens will be used for settings of pheasant eggs.

The peahens are laying. Ten eggs are ready for setting. After the 31 days of setting, Smith hopes to have 10 or 12 new birds. Cranes or crows have eaten at least 11 eggs.

In the stable at the deer pen Mr. and Mrs. Barn Swallow are raising their young in a crude mud nest in the rafters. The swallows have been nesting in the stable for the last six years.

Colored motion pictures of scenes in Norway and Holland were shown by Herbert J. Pendray at the Kiwanis Club luncheon yesterday. The pictures, taken by Mr. Pendray during a tour of Europe last year, showed many interesting landmarks which are now in the public eye because of the war situation.

In Norway the scenes included Oslo, Oslo Fjord and the king's palace at Oslo. A great similarity between the scenery of this region and the scenery of British Columbia was noticed by the audience. Scenes at Bergen and Stavanger were also shown, with the fishing centre and the Stave church, said to be over 700 years old.

Scenes at Rotterdam, Duelf and the Hague, where tulip fields were in full bloom, were also shown. The Kiwanians commented on the beauty of the Dutch countryside with its windmills, tulip fields and gardens.

The speaker was thanked on behalf of the Kiwanians by A. Gibbs.

A. Dowell was elected treasurer of the local Kiwanis Club by acclamation. Mr. Dowell will fill the vacancy left by A. Stickley, former treasurer of the local club.

Darrell W. Spence was chairman of the meeting.

Information has been received that mail service excepting parcel post, has been resumed to Finland. There is likely, however, to be considerable delay in transmission.

Presents Uniforms To Boys' Band

A large audience attended a band and variety concert sponsored and presented by the Victoria Boys' Eand in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium last night, the occasion being the presentation of uniforms to the boys by school trustee P. E. George, honorary secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The band, under the direction of C. H. Rowles, was featured in many instrumental and band selections during the evening, and was enthusiastically applauded by the audience. The young players have only been rehearsing for the past seven months, and many of the boys had not played instruments until a few weeks ago.

Civic officials, contributors towards equipment for the band and those interested in the musical career of the boys, as an interesting youth organization for the city and as a tourist attraction, applauded well as Mr. George presented them with the smart air force blue and scarlet uniforms.

After the presentation, a variety concert, featuring instrumental solos by the young bandsmen and supported by young Victoria artists, was presented.

The program was as follows: "Promotion," march and "Blue Moon," waltz, by the band; euphonium solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song" by bandsman Bill Robson; tap dance by Master Jack Shrimpton; piano solo, "General Grant's March" by Robert Bradstock; reverie, "Organ Melody" by the band; song and dance by Brucie Allen; concert solo, "The Rosary," by bandsman Kenneth King; trombone solo, "The Holy City" by bandsman John Symonds; song and dance by Dorothy Finn; tone poem, "Village Chapel" by the band, and a march, "Honor Band" by the band.

Art Farey and George Rodd acted as piano accompanists for the supporting artists.

G. A. Dyson, chairman of the band organization, was in charge of the program, and P. E. George acted as master of ceremonies.

URGES YOUTH TO LIFE OF SERVICE

Young people were called upon to forego lives of selfishness for lives of service during these critical days when men were giving their lives in warfare by Dean S. H. Elliott in an address to youth at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday.

Dean Elliott spoke to the text "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death and I Will Give Thee a Crown of Life," Revelation 11, 10. The service was attended by 800 Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and Canadian Girls in Training.

The moment of the great battle now being fought was brought home by General Gamelin's message to "conquer or die," Dean Elliott said. "'Be thou faithful unto death.' That was as far as any human command could go. But God has something more to say, 'I will give thee a crown of Life.' There must be an end to wanting to please yourself, to be worthy of those who are giving their lives. You must devote your life, absolutely, in service to God and to making the world a better place."

MORIARTY HEADS CITY JOURNALISTS

Victoria Branch, B.C. Institute of Journalists, at its annual meeting yesterday afternoon elected C. F. Moriarty of The Canadian Press, as president for the coming year. He succeeds Miss Muriel Richards.

J. K. Nesbitt was chosen vice-president, George Bonavia treasurer; Roy Murdoch, secretary, and the following on the executive: F. M. Kelley, Leslie Fox, Sidney Thomas and Thomas Taylor.

BRITAIN COULD REPEL INVASION

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Express, published by Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Aircraft Production, declared that while a German invasion of Britain is "perfectly feasible . . . it cannot be successful if we are prepared."

The newspaper said that British sea power, without air parity, could not resist an invasion of the British Isles "with absolute certainty."

"If Hitler should conquer the French coast, his planes could escort troopships and drop a curtain of bombs to screen a point of landing," it declared.

"Land batteries could cover the channel. A sea passage for transports might be mined on both sides.

"Hitler landed troops in Norway's western ports by decoy which deceived the British navy.

"The lesson of Norway is this: Invasion of Britain is perfectly feasible. But it cannot be successful if we are prepared."

Drastic Tax Boost Ordered in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Drastic taxation increases "to restore the finances of the province" were announced by Provincial Treasurer Arthur Mathewson, who forecast a $258,061 surplus for the nine-month period beginning July 1. Expenditures were estimated at $52,435,239 and revenues at $52,693,300.

BRITISH MASSES VOICE CONFIDENCE

By HAROLD FAIR

LONDON (CP) — The swift Nazi drive through France toward the English Channel has sobered Britain's plain Jack Jones, but he has lost none of that confidence which invariably finds expression in his pub as he mumbles over the foaming glass that "we'll come through all right."

Everywhere you go there are expressions of confidence in the Churchill government, but the man in the street continually observes "that should have been done months ago."

The thought of what Germany would do if the Nazis should get Channel bases causes plenty of pondering, but Mister Jones seems more bothered by the menace of a fifth column. He'll tell you to round up all aliens.

It was interesting to watch the facial expressions of diners in a small Bloomsbury restaurant while the news was broadcast. Faces reflecting varying degrees of tensity, they cocked one ear to the radio while trying to devote attention to the dinner. The slightest movement of the waiters brought a frown.

COMMONS TO BE FULLY INFORMED

OTTAWA (CP) — Fullest possible information regarding the national war effort will be given members of Parliament, Prime Minister King assured the House of Commons yesterday, although some information might be of such a nature it could only be given to a select, closed committee representative of all groups in the House.

The Prime Minister enlarged on a statement he made Monday at the request of Conservative Leader Hanson.

Procedure in the House on the appropriations bill would be the same as with other money bills, but some questions might be asked which it would be impossible or unwise to answer, having regard for the public interest and the interests of the Allied powers.

The Prime Minister proposed selection of a special secret committee to deal with the military effort, or perhaps separate committees to deal with the separate branches, army, navy or air service.

Mr. King suggested he and Mr. Hanson should confer privately on the matter to work out details. Mr. Hanson agreed.

Weddings

MELNYK—KERR

At a pretty ceremony at the home of the bride's parents last evening at 8, Rev. James Hyde of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, united in marriage Olive Fedora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr, 224 Wilson Street, and Nestor Peter Melnyk, R.C.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melnyk of Big Valley, Alta. Masses of roses were used in decoration of the rooms, and the ceremony was performed before the fireplace which was banked with snapdragons and columbines, flanked at either side with standard baskets of Russell lupins.

Mr. Kerr gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an afternoon dress of shirred blue crepe romaine, with short sleeves, a pink straw hat covered with lily of the valley and matching accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of orchids and her only ornament was an heirloom gold locket, a gift of her aunt, Mrs. Olive Brown. Mr. Fred Waters, R.C.N., of Big Valley, Alta., supported the groom.

Mrs. Kerr received the guests in a gown of rose crepe, with a corsage bouquet of gardenias, and, in the unavoidable absence of the bridegroom's mother, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Olive Brown, assisted in greeting the guests, attired in a blue silk sheer dress with corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Supper was served from a table centred with the bridal cake and arranged with white stocks and forget-me-nots.

Mr. and Mrs. Melnyk left for a honeymoon trip to Calgary, Edmonton and Big Valley, the bride donning a suede polo topper coat of Omar shade over her wedding ensemble. They will make their home in Victoria on their return.

Vancouver I.O.D.E. Hold Stormy Meeting

VANCOUVER — Surely the stormiest meeting in its history was that of Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., Monday evening. The walls of the York room, Hotel Georgia, echoed again and again to the crack of the gavel, wielded constantly by the first vice-regent, Mrs. C. Barrett-Lennard.

Members expressed themselves freely, frequently and in unison—every item of business aroused a furor of excited discussion.

RUMOR ABOUT MAYOR

The first disturbance arose when a rumor was voiced that Mayor Lyle Telford said he would prohibit the display of the flag. After considerable discussion it was decided to display flags on homes on Friday with an idea to increasing patriotism.

But greater than this was the upheaval over a resolution from the British-Canadian Allies Association. Amendments and amendments to the amendments flew about the room, and votes could not be counted properly because of excitement.

Cause of it all was the section: "All aliens in concentration camps should be deported to country of origin." There was a loud chorus of "No, no." But the other three sections of the resolution received endorsement.

ALLIED WORKERS

These were: Employers of labor should give preference to British, Canadian and Allied workers, before Germans or naturalized Germans; naturalization should be immediately suspended for duration of the war, and increased and persistent vigilance should be exercised over all alien activities."

There was another contentious discussion on libaries for soldiers. An additional $300 was asked from the chapter (it had already promised $700), for educational books for soldiers in training. The argument was comforts or education for the men, some members believing that woolies and other comforts in the trenches would be better than books now; others maintaining classes of junior matriculation, university work or vocational guidance would be preferable. The latter won by a 16 to 7 chapter vote.

"Unshakeable Faith In Britain"—Massey

LONDON (CP)—Hon. Vincent Massey said in an Empire Broadcast Britain has nerved herself for the greatest struggle she has ever faced, but "there is not a shadow of despair, not a thought of defeat, only an unshakeable faith in the ultimate victory."

"There is more than faith," said the Canadian High Commissioner to London. "Now new measures have been taken to meet the new perils and the wheels of industry, harnessed to the war effort, are moving faster today than ever before. Above all, the private interest and personal happiness of all, the million hopes and fears which make up the daily life of men and women, have been put on one side and the British nation concentrated as one man upon a supreme object."

On this one campaign in which he has suffered already vast losses of men and munitions, Hitler has staked his fortunes in the belief he can end the conflict by one crushing blow, the High Commissioner said.

"Never was there a more profound miscalculation. As has been well said, if we lose this battle we shall not lose the war, but should Hitler lose this battle he knows he will have lost the war."

Paying tribute to the courage and devotion of the Royal Air Force, Mr. Massey said Canada already had taken her part in this effort.

"The first Canadians to be in action in this war were the men from our Dominion, who came over here many months and even years ago to equip themselves for the conflict in the air that was to come. Theirs is a stirring tale of gallantry and sacrifice.

"You are wondering tonight how the people of this island are feeling and thinking. Britain has nerved herself for the greatest ordeal she has ever faced. The threat of an attack from the air now lies over this land. What such an attack can mean, we all know. It is a nightmare of cruelty and destruction which hangs heavy on the air these lovely days of the English spring. But its nightmare is powerless against the steady spirit of the British people."

Sees Social Credit As Solution of Problems

While loyalty demands that every effort should be directed to the Empire's victorious outcome in the present conflict, it should not be forgotten that problems at home are awaiting solution, Mrs. Lilian Beirne, Australian economist, told a gathering held in the Victoria Truth Centre on Monday evening.

An advocate of Social Credit, Mrs. Beirne was addressing the first public meeting sponsored by the Women's Branch of the New Democracy movement, with Mrs. Boydell in the chair.

Mrs. Beirne urged the women to study Social Credit, reminding them that "we have innumerable institutions for the care of the mentally deficient, for the reform of prisoners, for the sick. But the causes are left untouched. In nearly every case of mental deficiency, the cause is malnutrition of the mother in prenatal days and the generally low standard of life. And behind this lies some fault in our economic system," she maintained.

School Children Will Honor Queen Victoria Tomorrow

By FRANCES EBBS CANAVAN

THE STATUE of "that little lady" at the bottom of the gardens in front of the Parliament Buildings passes unnoticed 364 days of the year. But tomorrow, May 23, it will resound to the piping of many dozens of children's voices, and be the recipient of scores of beautiful floral offerings. For tomorrow, the day before Her Majesty Queen Victoria's birthday, representatives of school children from every public school in Victoria, accompanied by Sea Cadets, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts will keep kindled the memory of England's Empire-building Queen by a short, moving ceremony in front of the statue under the auspices of the local chapters of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire.

It is timely, then, to recall the episode of the building of the statue. It has been called "disproportionate" and "so unlike the Queen." It has also been suggested "that a sculptor who either resembles the Queen as she was, or who knew somebody familiar with the appearance of Her Majesty, should be found to execute a more life-like statue."

Queen Victoria's statue in Parliament Square with I.O.D.E. standard-bearers and school children at its foot on a previous May 23 ceremony.

SOUTHERN SITE

In 1912, Sir Richard McBride, at that time Premier of British Columbia, commissioned the well-known sculptor, Albert Bruce-Joy of London, England, to design and execute in bronze a statue of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, to adorn the grounds of the Parliament Buildings, in the Capital City of British Columbia, named for the Queen.

The site chosen for the statue was the space directly facing the main entrance to the Government Buildings, and it was agreed that the fountain which already ornamented that spot, should in all fitness, "make way for Her Majesty."

Mr. Bruce-Joy, having plans for the site upon which to base the dimensions of the figure, according to the angles from which it should be viewed, designed and built the statue in proportion.

It was originally intended to face the main entrance of the Parliament Buildings so that the light from the South should fall directly upon the features of the Queen, and upon the inscription at the base of the monument.

Early in 1913 the sculptor began his task.

It is interesting to note that Mrs. J. W. Church of Victoria, at that time visiting her uncle the Hon. J. H. Turner, Agent-General for British Columbia in London, was probably the first Canadian to see the statue. Mrs. Church recalls the detailed correspondence which passed between the sculptor and the Agent-General, and finally the invitation to Mr. Turner and herself to visit the studio of Mr. Bruce-Joy, where they were shown the completed clay model, on the eve of its being cast in bronze. The sculptor explained that the figure was an enlarged replica of the portrait of Queen Victoria, at the time of her accession to the Throne, by the famous painter, Winter Halter. At its completion, the statue was placed in the Royal Exchange Building, London, until the fate of shipping should be less uncertain than during the years of the war.

DELAY IN SHIPPING

On April 16, 1916, the Crown of Toledo called at Victoria and the major portion of her cargo discharged here was 43 tons of Scandanavian marble, part of the base of Queen Victoria's statue. The quarries of Scotland had formerly supplied nearly all the marble used in the United Kingdom for monumental purposes, but owing to the difficulty of securing marble in sufficient quantities, much of the marble for memorial works was then being imported from Russia. Through some error of shipping, part of the base of the statue was included in a foreign shipment, and was not recovered for some time, the delay adding to the long period of waiting, even after the statue had arrived.

During the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Victoria one of his most pleasant duties was the laying of the corner stone, on September 24, 1919, for the monument to his illustrious great - grandmother. About two weeks earlier the statue had been shipped by the Harrison liner, Architect, and reached Victoria on October 30, constituting three tons of the freight of the Architect.

On April 19, 1921, the unveiling ceremony was performed by His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, who made a fine speech in reply to the address of Hon. John Oliver, Premier of British Columbia. No explanation was made by anyone of the extraordinary alteration of the site for the statue, in spite of the fact that it has been placed, not where the fountain stood and still stands, but close among the trees bordering upon Belleville Street, its back to the Parliament Buildings and the light from the south, and so close to the street that it is difficult to see the face.

The inscription, however, is on the south side of the pedestal as originally intended; the inscription itself called forth much adverse comment because of its incompleteness:

"This Stone was laid by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales on September 24, 1919."

This was far from satisfactory to the regent and members of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E., whose motto "To keep one hand upon the traditions of the past," was seriously violated through the omission of the name of Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

WHICH QUEEN?

The B.C. Historical Association also contended that, while "we of today know full well that this is 'The Queen, God Bless Her,' in the days to come it might very well be forgotten just which Queen is represented. Two beloved successors, Queen Alexandra and Queen Mary, having held this high office following in the footsteps of Victoria the Good, it would seem most desirable that the name of Queen Victoria should have a prominent place on the base of her statue. This was eventually accomplished.

The sculptor was in despair at the news of the inartistic setting up of his creation. After his plans for all his nicety of balance of light and of shadows, he declared the site "an absolutely impossible one," and that "the statue looks like 16 feet of nothing, while anyone looking at it must stand right under it, or go out on a roadway and be run over by a motor car, or fall backwards into the water." The Island Arts and Crafts Association and other interested citizens lent support to the cause of the sculptor, and the press strongly endorsed their representations.

Despite all this, the idealized figure in her bronze beauty, stands firmly upon her pedestal of blue Swedish granite, a changeless monument to a great Queen, guarding the portals of a living monument to her name—Victoria.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Pats Were Ready To Go to Norway

Some Victorans, members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, nearly saw action in the Norwegian campaign.

This was revealed for the first time in the House of Commons last night when Hon. Norman Rogers, defence minister, announced that two battalions and certain specialized units from the 1st Canadian Division were selected, equipped and actually on their way to embark from the United Kingdom for Norway when the plan to attack Trondheim was dropped.

The two battalions elected were the Princess Pats and the Edmonton Regiment.

These Canadian soldiers were "in a port in the north of Scotland ready to proceed to Norway when it was decided the landing operation at Trondheim was not to take place." Accordingly they returned to Aldershot.

"There was therefore no Canadian force," the minister continued, "which actually served in the operations in Norway."

Recall School Days

The Boys' Central Reunion promises to bring back many past school memories for those who attend at Spencers' dining-room June 7.

The reunion will be the first the school has held in 10 years, and the committee in charge have arranged many original and interesting items to bring back the memories of the ex-students' schooldays. Among the outstanding items of interest will be a large blackboard upon which are placed old school pictures and snaps and various sport scenes. Trophies will also be placed on display where the former pupils will be able once again to view the prizes they fought for on the field of sport.

For bookings ex-pupils contact any member of the committee or phone Mr. Parkin, 803 Fort Street, E 5351.

Advised Meighen Study War Effort

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. Raoul Dandurand, government leader in the Senate, said last night he doubted if Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, would be "so discouraged" if he had perused government reports on the national war effort.

At the afternon session, Senator Meighen had sharply attacked the government for the manner in which it had mobilized Canada for war.

Senator Dandurand continued the Throne Speech debate with a narrative of the growth of the Canadian fighting forces.

The Royal Canadian Navy at the outbreak of war comprised a dozen vessels and 1,600 officers and ratings, he said. Now there were 100 vessels and 6,000 officers and men. The Royal Canadian Naval Reserve had grown from 200 officers and ratings to 1,400. The Royal Canadian Navy Volunteer Reserve had increased from 1,600 officers and ratings to 2,850, with 100 officers and 1,000 ratings in reserve in various centres.

Present strength of the Royal Canadian Air Force was more than 12,000 officers and men and was "still growing." Squadrons were engaged in coastal defence and convoy duty, he said, and were aiding in guarding Newfoundland and St. Pierre-Miquelon.

WANTS REORGANIZATION

Senator Meighen charged that "until the government is reorganized or changed—and I don't want it changed on any party basis—it will not have the confidence of Canadians."

He repeated his charges, made several times before in Parliament, that the Canadian government had turned down a request by the British government two years ago to establish air training schools in the Dominion.

"When British troops failed in Norway because they were not supported sufficiently by planes, the man who should have resigned was not in England but right here," he declared.

"There has been a total absence of real war spirit in the Dominion," he continued, "because there has been no proper appreciation of Empire relations."

U.S. 'Protector' For Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — With British, French and Belgian prisoners-of-war being transported into Germany, Alexander C. Kirk, charge d'affaires of the United States embassy in Berlin, has appealed to the State Department for help in supervising their treatment.

Kirk has formed a special organization in the embassy to handle such supervision at the request of the Allies. This organization is proving insufficent, so Kirk has asked for additional officials.

In supervising the treatment of prisoners as a "protecting power," the United States is acting under a 1929 pact signed at Geneva by all the leading nations, including Germany and the Allies. The pact guarantees prisoners-of-war equitable treatment such as they never were guaranteed in any previous war, and gives to the protecting power the task of seeing that the treatment corresponds with the provisions of the pact.

LONDON (CP) — The health ministry has appealed for "every available nurse" in its program for building up a "hospital machine" to care for possible air raid casualties on the home front as well as wounded from Continental battlefields. Wounded soldiers now are arriving in convoys at English ports.

'ROOSEVELT FACING ISSUE'... MEIGHEN

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Upper Chamber, praised President Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday as the "mightiest and braniest" of United States sons and a man who sees the war situation "as it is."

Speaking in the address debate, he said the arm of Britain and her Allies form the fortress "under which we are going to live —and beneath which we are going to die if it fails.

"There are some even across the line who are not of the same view today that they were months ago. Today they are not so confident they could win where the great democracies of Europe failed and win after the girth of those totalitarian powers is multiplied many times and their proximity is closer to our continent than any powerful nation here."

"The United States are coming to the view of their great President . . . who from the altitude of his high position and in the light of his luminous brain, unsurpassed in our day, sees the situation as it is."

Mr. Meighen said the Canadian war effort had been no example to the United States people who wanted to know why they should come into the war when Canada simply was going through the forms.

Wealth Withdrawal Banned

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—The government has banned the removal of wealth from Egypt. Many Italians, fearing that Premier Mussolini may decide at any moment to join Germany against the Allies, have converted their property into cash.

Now they find their exit with this wealth barred by a restriction that any person may take away only 20 Egyptian pounds (about $70).

Rome Incident Settled

LONDON (CP)—The incident in which British embassy officials in Rome were molested "has been satisfactorily disposed of between the Italian minister for foreign affairs and His Majesty's ambassador it Rome, aod is regarded as closed," R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Commons today.

Export Trade From B.C. Holds

Exports of British Columbia products during March were slightly above those of the corresponding month of last year, the B.C. Bureau of Economics and Statistics reported today.

Total value of the B.C. goods that went out through all ports of exit was $9,950,840. In March last year the figure was $9,829,952.

In addition to this $1,880,380 worth of goods from other provinces, including $819,040 worth of wheat, was shipped through B.C. ports. This compared with $4,899,259 last year.

This brought to $11,831,220 the value of all Canadian goods exported through B.C. ports, compared with $8,011,505 in February and with $14,729,211 in March of last year.

The figures do not include exports of gold, which are not given for war reasons.

Principal commodities in the March exports were $4,838,612 in wood and wood products, $2,707,498 in nonferrous metals and their products, $1,273,209 worth of fish and fishery products, $455,141 in farm products and $489,733 in chemical and allied products.

Hear Reports On Conference

Members of the Credit Granters' Association heard reports covering the activities of last week's Pacific Northwest credit conference in Vancouver when they met yesterday in Spencer's dining-room for their final luncheon of the spring season.

Ron Lochhead presided. C. H. Williams, head of the Edmonton Credit Granters' Association, was a guest.

Reports were given by Mr. Lochhead, Ray Whellans, who attended the instalment group meeting at which questions affecting credit education, filing of accounts and sales promotion were discussed; H. B. Dawson, Victoria secretary, who attended the bureau division group meeting, where speakers urged the maintenance of high ideals and continued education of credit granting as a means of benefitting the individual; Nigel Giles, who attended the food dealers' group; L. Cumings, who described the excellent entertainment provided by the Vancouver members; George E. MacDonald, who presided over the instalment group committee and suggested to the association various changes which he thought might be made in group meeting programs at the next conference, and O. M. Prentice, who attended the department store group and was again re-elected a director of the conference.

Mr. Prentice said there was considerable discussion on the preparing of all merchants for the depression which must inevitably follow the war. He spoke highly of the co-operation between credit men and the local bureau as compared with the relations in other cities.

CANADA SPEEDS EFFORT IN AIR

OTTAWA (CP)—In his report to the Commons on the war effort, Defence Minister Norman Rogers said last night that in the field of aviation the British commonwealth air training plan was being accelerated and supplemented and No. 112 Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Force would be sent overseas.

The 110th Army Co-operation Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Force, now in England, was the first Canadian unit ever sent overseas and was proud of it. It was particularly anxious to be attached to the Canadian corps in action and its wish would be satisifed, Mr. Rogers said.

Arrangements had been made with the British air ministry that whatever duties may be assigned the 110th A.C. squadron before the Canadian Corps in the field is formed, immediately the corps goes into action the 110th will be attached to it.

The minister said a fighter squadron in the R.A.F. had been organized exclusively of Canadians, except for a few non-commissioned officers.

Britain's Tank and Anti-tank Corps are Fighting Desperately

Their faces upturned to watch manoeuvres of co-operating aircraft, members of a British tank unit are pictured in France. A few days after this photo was taken, troops like these were engaged in biggest tank battle of all time.

These pictures of the B.E.F. in France, rushed to New York by trans-Atlantic plane, show two of the arms the Tommies are using in hopes of stopping the on-rushing Nazi columns. At right, a small but effective anti-tank gun. At left, a good idea of the size of the big field gun. Tommies strain to haul it into position.

—Passed by French censor

This radiophoto received from Paris shows a weeping mother and child beside a bomb-destroyed home near Paris. Attacks on France were intensified by the Nazis when they started their invasion of Belgium and Holland.

Paris Braces for War's Full Shock

As total war smashes further and further into France, Parisians nurses are kept at a high degree of efficiency by constant practice for air-raid emergencies. Above, French officials instruct the nurses in use of gas masks. Below, the Grand Palais of the Champs Elysees . . . a beautiful Paris park converted into a series of anti-aircraft stations.

Maginot Defenders Know Art Of War Above Ground, Too

Scenes like this, where French Maginot Line troops march to the attack through a steel-rail tank barrier during manoeuvres, came to grim reality along the 10-mile Meuse River battle line as the swift German advance turned the conflict into a roaring war of movement. Taking a leaf from Nazis' own book, French abandoned static defence by forts and pill-boxes, launched a counter speed-krieg at vital Franco-Belgian border points. (From March of Time's "Inside the Maginot Line")

Although great forces of French tanks and infantry have been hurled forward to counter German thrusts across the Meuse River, these great guns of the Maginot Line's underground forts bark. Photo taken during recent firing practice.

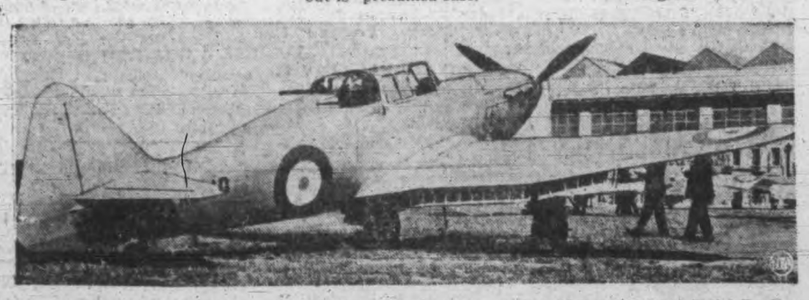
There's a tough war on in Europe, but maybe the censorship has concealed it from the German Railroads Information Bureau in New York. Or perhaps they're just ignoring it. These posters, suggesting a "sunny holiday" in "Germany, the land of songs and smiles," are displayed in the tourist office window.

THOUGHT SAFE—Pilot Officer A. R. Ball of Montreal has been posted as missing following action with the Royal Air Force, but is "presumed safe."

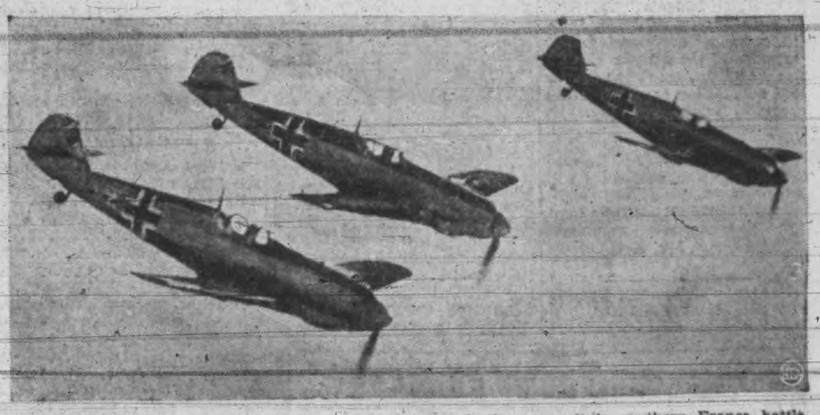
SCREEN STAR WEDS—Anita Louise, Hollywood film actress, became the bride of Maurice (Buddy) Adler, May 18, at Los Angeles.

Five persons killed, scores injured, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property damaged when a series of earthquakes shook Imperial Valley and were felt from Los Angeles and San Diego, Calif., to Phoenix, Ariz. Photo shows wrecked buildings at Imperial where four persons died under falling bricks and debris in front of the grocery store at the left. (Acme telephoto).

DELIBERATELY ATTACKED—Anne Morgan, sister of J. P. Morgan, telephoned Paris headquarters of the American volunteer ambulance corps, May 16, that she and her ambulance unit were under a German bombardment in the Ardennes wood along the French-Belgian frontier. Dr. James Sparks, director of the corps, asserted German airplanes directed their fire at the ambulances "with the object of destroying them."



The hitherto secret British plane now in action against Germans in Belgium and Holland is the Boulton Paul "Defiant," pictured here. This two-seater fighter is said to be the deadliest and fastest known. Unique feature is its power-operated, revolving gun turret aft, enabling it to fire from any angle. Other armament includes 14 machine guns in the wings and a 32-mm. cannon firing from propeller shaft.



German dive bombers in action with mechanized forces leading assault in northern France battle. Against German air might Britain has just unleashed her new "Secret" fighter plane, hitherto held back for defence of England itself.

YOU CAN'T OUTSMART a sock on the chin, and a sock on the chin alters opinions and changes the complexion of things faster than anything we know of.

Only a few days ago old-timers were classing Lou Ambers with great lightweight leaders of the past . . . declared the erstwhile Herkimer Hurricane belonged in the first five.

The same fellows said Lew Jenkins, a skinny, bushy-haired kid with a dying look on a deathly serious face, was just a lucky stiff to be getting the short end in a title match.

Now Sweetwater has someone besides Roy Crane, the artist, and Wash Tubbs and Easy and Sammy Baugh, the footballer, of whom to boast, for Jenkins, the former cavalryman, hails from that west Texas town and is the new champion. And veterans are going back to Australian Billy Murphy. Terrible Terry McGovern, the original Young Corbett, Joe Gans and Aurelia Herrera to find a belter like him among the little fellows. None punched straighter or more savagely.

Jenkins' stunning victory over Ambers made him second only to Joe Louis as a beak-busting attraction. The fight mob appreciates a hitter, especially in the lighter divisions. This is because the trade sees so few of them. Jenkins, for example, is the first lightweight king in 10 years to win by a knockout. The crown has changed hands by a knockout only five times since Battling Nelson and Gans fought their memorable 42-round battle in Goldfield in 1906.

Jenkins, who scaled only 132 pounds in topping Ambers, will tackle Henry Armstrong, the welterweight ruler, next.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, who has Jenkins tied up for three years, predicts he'll flatten Armstrong.

Jenkins' story is that of the typical hungry fighter. He began boxing while serving with the Eighth Cavalry regiment of the United States Army in Texas.

Jenkins, who is 23, didn't fight professionally until January, 1938. He appeared to be the run-o'-the-mine type . . . traveled around the United States fighting preliminaries.

Jenkins deserves whatever he gets. He fought his way through the ranks. His smashing victory over Ambers was his 10th straight in New York and his eighth consecutive knockout.

When he first arrived, Jenkins had only one loaded hand—the right. Since schooled by Hymie Caplin, the New York handler, he now has two good fists. His second-round knockdown of Ambers was scored by a left hook.

Jenkins is a vicious warrior. He belted Ambers after the bell twice—not once. He belted the Italian when he was through the ropes. He was on top of him after each knockdown . . . gave Referee Billy Cavanagh no chance to wipe off his gloves.

That's the way fans like their fighters—hungry and vicious. So many of them spend too much time apologizing.

Maybe it's nostalgia creeping up, but a fellow can't escape feeling every once in a while that the old heroes are the best heroes.

There's Jimmy Foxx of Boston Red Sox. In the 15 years he has been swashbuckling around the American League, a lot of fine new faces have appeared and a lot of them have passed right on out.

But old "double X" still is setting the opposing pitchers crazy with his terrific slugging. He hit a home run with the bases loaded yesterday for the second straight day to help Boston beat Detroit Tigers 11 to 8 and get a stronger grip on first place.

He has hit 11 homers and batted in 34 runs already this spring to set a spectacular pace for the American League.

In the meantime the world champion New York Yankees took some of the pressure off Boston by belting Cleveland Indians 10 to 2 with a 12-hit attack, led by Georgie Selkirk and Charley Keller.

The victory was not sufficient to get the Yanks out of the cellar, however, because Chicago White Sox edged out Washington Senators 9 to 8.

These were the only completed games in the American League. Philadelphia Athletics were leading 6 to 0 when rain washed out their game with St. Louis Browns in the fifth.

In the only contest the weather allowed in the National League Brooklyn Dodgers squeezed past Chicago Cubs 4 to 3 to end a three-game losing streak.

COAST LEAGUE

The Seattle Rainiers shaved a full game from the gap between their third-place post i nthe Pacific Coast League and the second-place Oakland Acorns by scoring a 4 to 0 victory over the invaders in Seattle last night.

Dick Barrett chalked up his sixth victory in seven starts holding the Oaks to two hits, only one of which was a solid blow.

Ray Harrell, newly acquired right hander from Pittsburgh, made his debut with the Portland Beavers and was charged with the 8 to 6 defeat at the hands of the Hollywood Stars.

A three-run rally in the eighth inning gave San Francisco Seals a 5 to 4 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Si Cihocki, Los Angeles shortstop, paced the Los Angeles Angels' eight-hit attack with a double and three singles for a 4 to 2 victory over the Sacramento Solons. Cihocki batted in three of the four runs.

Majors Take to Night Baseball

NEW YORK (AP)—When the night game came along to knock the daylight out of minor league baseball it was viewed with amused tolerance by the majors.

It was a circus stunt, they said. It would lure the fans until the novelty wore off, and after that the attendance wouldn't pay for the light bulbs, which had an alarming way of popping, at $5 a pop, whenever struck by a few drops of rain.

On top of that, it was argued that night baseball and day baseball were two entirely different games, that the night games would be a parade of errors and one-sided football scores.

FINE RECORD

How the majors were forced to swallow their own ridicule is well known, and now comes Bill Brandt, National League publicity chief, with statistics to show that not only does the night game compare favorably with the day game in every respect, but that the Cincinnati Reds, who probably need an advantage the least, seem to be the most owl-eyed club in the circuit.

The Reds played in 10 of the 21 night games in the National League last season, and won eight of them. The Pittsburgh Pirates won two out of three, the Brooklyn Dodgers five out of 10, and the St. Louis Cardinals two out of four. Three other clubs finished their night frolicking under the .500 mark, and the New York Giants did not play under arcs.

Other data on the night contests reveals:

That 10 of the games were decided by one-run margins, and four went extra innings. The percentage of one-run margins was 47½, compared with 30½ for the day games.

Only two games, or 9½ per cent, resulted in shutouts. The day game shutout percentage was about 13.

Night ball, after a wobbly start, now has reached the point where seven out of 10 minor league games this year will be played under artificial light, and eight major league clubs have illuminated their parks.

BOMBERS AND CUBS POST VICTORIES

Brown Bombers and Tillicum Athletic Cubs scored victories in a pair of second division baseball tussles played last night. Bombers handed the Navy a 17 to 3 beating at Admirals Road, while Cubs, league leaders, added another mark to their victory column by humbling Cedar Hill Athletics, 12 to 6, at Beacon Hill.

Cubs have three wins in as many starts to their credit and are setting the pace, while Eagles are in the second spot with one win in two games. Navy, Brown Bombers and Cedar Hill are even with one win in three games.

Next game will be played tonight at Beacon Hill at 6, Eagles meeting Bombers, with Burton umpiring.

JUNIORS OPEN SEASON

Tillicum Rainiers, Fernwood Giants and Oak Bay Tigers are the three teams entered to date in the Junior Baseball League, under 18 years of age, according to organizer Bill Pynn. A fourth club is expected. First game will be played tonight at Oak Bay Park, Rainiers vs. Tigers. Tomorrow evening Fernwood meets Oak Bay.

Dominion Cup Soccer

Wests Meet City

Victoria football teams will usher in the Dominion Cup series on Saturday afternoon, when Victoria West and Victoria City tangle at Beacon Hill Park, starting at 3.

Winners of this match will tackle Victoria United in the local final of the competition, and the victor will go into the series proper along with the mainland elevens.

Dominion Cup series is to determine the holders of the Canadian championship.

Both the Wests and City will take the field with vastly changed line-ups as the result of player transfers. As a matter of fact, four Wests players, Ernie Lorandini, George Leggett, Scotty Robinson and Harry Holness, are former members of the City and will be playing against their former teammates.

In order to fill the gaps in his club, Manager Charlie Lewis of the City has signed Lorne Fuller, Louie McCorkall, the veteran Scotty Stewart and Alec Archiball and Cec Cockrill of the Navy.

Rudy Loeffler In Mat Tourney

VANCOUVER (CP) — Topnotch grapplers of western Canada move into action tonight in opening bouts of the two-day Canadian amateur wrestling championships at the Western Sports Centre here.

There are 28 entries for the mat classic which officials of the Dominion Wrestling Association have announced will be governed by the international Olympic rules. The rules tried here for the first time in the recent British Columbia championships, penalize wrestlers for stalling during a match.

All bouts will be of 15 minutes, with four judges and a referee officiating.

Outstanding attraction on the opening night's program is the featherweight match between Vern Pettigrew of Regina and Pete Tyson of Vancouver. Pettigrew has held the Canadian title in his division since 1936 and was a member of the Canadian team to the Berlin Olympics that year.

DOUBLE ACTION

Pettigrew will see double action tonight. He is scheduled to meet George Haddock of Powell River, B.C., in a second round affair later in the evening.

Another defending champion, heavyweight Jack Whelan of Vancouver, also will do double duty tonight. The Vancouver "cop" will tackle James Lyttle of Regina in a first round match, later tangling with John Karvalles of Edmonton in a second rounder.

Spencer Mould of Calgary meets Earl Manuel of Vancouver in the other featherweight bout of the night.

In the 145-pound class Rudy Loeffler of Victoria is matched against Bob Cleator of Vancouver, and Bob Smylie of Calgary is pitted against Eric McIlhargey of Vancouver in the 174-pound division.

The championships wind up tomorrow night with winners decided on a point basis.

OPEN PITCHES

The Victoria Horse Shoe Pitching Association announces that the club pitches and shoes at Pandora Avenue and Blanshard Street will be available to the public in the evenings.

The pitches are being repaired and reconditioned, and anyone wishing to make use of them can do so, Arthur Manson, secretary-treasurer of the association, said.

Practice games will be held in the evenings for the next month, after which a schedule will be drawn up.

At a meeting Monday evening, James Keating was chosen to fill the president's office made vacant through the resignation of W. J. Rennie. Harold Kirkham was elected vice-presidnt.

Adanacs Take Four Straight

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Westminster Adanacs are coasting along in first place in the Intercity Box Lacrosse League today with four wins and no losses.

Last night the Canadian champions handed Richmond Farmers a 16 to 7 defeat here, that left the Lulu Island crew with one win in three starts.

The Canadian titlists breezed through the farmers' weak defence and had little difficulty scoring. The match was slow throughout.

Each squad netted one goal in the first quarter, but Adanacs smashed in seven consecutive counters without a reply in the second. The Adanacs outscored Richmond 4 to 2 in the third and then matched points in the final quarter. Bob Lee, Jimmy Douglas and Garnie Carter each scored three for Adanacs.

NEW CHAMPION—NEW MONEY—Happily surveying a chequè for $9,711, the biggest fistful of cash he's held in a long, long time, if ever, spidery Lew Jenkins, the Sweet Swatter of Sweetwater, Tex., contemplates the joys of being lightweight champion after kayoing Lou Ambers in the third round of recent title bout in New York.

Bays Smash Jokers and Again Share Boxla Lead

Longshoremen, Camerons Win

Longshoremen and Camerons checked in with Victorians in last night's senior softball engagements. Former turned back the Garrison 10 to 2 at Victoria West Park, while Camerons won their replay with Brundsons 10 to 4, at Athletic Park.

The Camerons - Brundsons' clash was a good ball game for four innings, after which it turned into a rout. In the first two innings Brundsons loaded the sacks but were unable to sneak a single runner home. The Esquimalt lads gained a one-run lead in the third only to have Camerons come back with two runs in their half of the inning. Brundsons tied it up in the fourth and took another one run lead in the fifth. In the last of the inning, however, the balloon went up with Camerons scoring four runs, featured by Travis getting a home run on what should have been a double.

Eric Moir, who started on the mound for Brundsons, retired in favor of Lloyd Jones. Camerons got three more runs in the sixth with Bradley circling the bags when Brundsons' outfielders played around with his long hit. Camerons added one more run in the eighth.

Eddie Dempster was the starting pitcher for Camerons, but was yanked in favor of Rosy McLellan after the lumbermen moved into the lead in the fifth.

Camerons— 00204301x	10	10	6

Longshoremen made it three straight victories to retain their position at the head of the standings. After taking a one-run lead in the third inning the freight jugglers were never headed and scored in every one but one of the eight innings.

Cullin Nets Five Goals In Victory

Jokers, who have been labeled the "worry warts" in local lacrosse, eased up on their close-checking or worrying strategy at intervals last night in the Willows auditorium and the result was that they came out second best in their clash with the James Bay stick warriors coached by Ted Menzies, the final count being 21 to 15.

But the 600-odd fans present gave the Jokers credit for putting up a great fight before tasting once again the bitters of defeat. The orangeshirts from across the bay did not come by their victory easily by any means. They had to fight the blackshirts hard to snare it.

This triumph hoisted the Bay men back into the top seat in senior company alongside Rich Williams' Alert Service stickmen. These two will scrap for sole occupation of that spot Tuesday night when they face each other in the Willows arena. It should be one rip-snorting affair, too. W. C. Moresby, K.C., local commission head, reported last night there would be no further senior tussles this week, but added a juvenile program would be presented Saturday in the same building.

Austie Cullin, husky James Bay lad who can really do things with his gutted stick, Ralph Baker and Doug Bray, out for his first taste of battle this season, were largely responsible for the James Bay triumph. Between them they accounted for 11 goals, Cullin sniping a quintette of them, Baker four and soldier Bray a trio. The big noise in scoring on the Jokers team was Keith Ludbrook, who looks plenty good on the floor these days. He sagged the hemp four times.

The joker lads got their first trip on the victory van last week by humbling Alerts. Their close-checking game enabled them to do this, and if they had employed the same tactics consistently last night they might have made it victory No. 2. But as it was, at times they got too anxious about scoring goals and abandoned "their game." And it was during those intervals that fast-moving Bay forwards swung into neat combination move-

Indian's Trial Difficult Affair

"This has been about the most hopeless case I have ever handled," commented Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court this morning during the trial of an Indian, charged with having liquor in his possession contrary to the Indian Act. After a hearing of one and a half hours the magistrate fined the accused $25 or, in default, one month.

The magistrate found it exceedingly difficult to get a clear conception of the Indians' testimoney, what with the accused's wife who acted as interpreter mumbling instead of speaking aloud and the accused jumping up in the prisoner's box frequently to check his wife on her statements. He was cautioned several times as the magistrate, who also had to make sense out of the wife's mother's testimony, interpreted by the wife.

Lithuania Had No Alternative

When Soviet Russia made her demands for military bases in Lithuania she bowed to the threat of overwhelming force because there was no alternative, asserted Dr. Kazys Pakstas, professor of geography at Kaunas University, Lithuania, in an interview at the Union Club today.

"Like the Irish," said Dr. Pakstas, "we asked Great Britain if it was going to be a public or private fight, and when we were informed that it would be private, we compromised. What else could a defenceless country like Lithuania do?"

Russia, he hastened to point out, had kept to the letter of her bargain and Lithuania's political integrity remained inviolate.

In establishing bases in Lithuania, as well as in Latvia and Estonia, the Soviet did so for one reason—to protect herself against Germany, Dr. Pakstas emphasized.

"Stalin, I am convinced, will not help Germany very much. Russia is suspicious of Germany and so is everybody else in Europe except you (Great Britain). The British are too self-confident, too optimistic."

Dr. Pakstas, who has made a life study of political, social, economic and geographical questions, is speaking before the Women's Canadian Club this afternoon and the Canadian Institute of International Affairs this evening. He will deal with problems of territorial justice in central Europe.

PEACE WITH JUSTICE

To keep Germany divided, in the event of the Allies winning the war, would not bring lasting peace in Europe, he said.

The problem would be to avoid the mistakes of the past and endeavor to establish a just peace along broad and sane lines.

Whatever the outcome of the present war, he admitted, the world would be thrown into economic chaos.

Touching on the latest phases of the German drive into northern France, Dr. Pakstas said the battle now being waged with such inhuman ferocity would not decide the outcome of the war.

"I do not pose as a prophet, but I am convinced it is going to be a long war, not to be settled in a few weeks.

"We hope the Allies will win. The war at this stage is serious, but it is not hopeless. It is a war of nerves and the people of the countries involved will be called upon to make great sacrifices."

Referring to the vulnerability of Great Britain, Dr. Pakstas said of the possibility of a Nazi air invasion and a successful Germany: "Not a brick would be left in England, and they would be the poorest people in the world."

Britain's unpreparedness and hesitant political policy was to be blamed for the rise of Hitler to power, said Dr. Pakstas.

In 1933, when Hitler became Chancellor of Germany, he said, Marshal Pilsudski of Poland, a Lithuanian, packed his suitcases and hurried to Paris with the proposal that Hitler be crushed then, or otherwise it would be too late. Many of the French generals agreed with him, but the politicians of France and Britain were of different opinions.

"If Pilsudski's plan had been followed," said Dr. Pakstas, "the Allies would have been in Berlin within a month." "Now, unfortunately, it may be too late."

The Lithuanians, who ceded the port of Memel to Germany under pressure, have not abandoned their claim to the city. They hope to recover their only port when Europe is remapped after the war.

One-third of Lithuania's merchant fleet was lost in trying to maintain commerce with Great Britain, through enemy action, stated Dr. Pakstas.

Before the war broke, 60 per cent of Lithuania's import and export trade was with Great Britain, and this has now gone largely to Germany and Russia.

One of his country's greatest problems today, stated Dr. Pakstas, was the 120,000 Polish refugees, which had to be fed by the state.

NO REVIEW

Delegates to the conference headed for home today after turning down a resolution proposing a review of the Defence of Canada regulations.

A recommendation was suggested by the evangelism and social services committee, which declared that "while sending our sons to defend liberty in Europe the utmost vigilance must be exercised to prevent its impairment at home."

The recommendation proposed a review of the Defence of Canada regulations with the aim of conserving the right of habeas corpus.

In opposing the resolution, Rev. J. S. Clark of Port Moody, B.C., said:

"There are some subversive movements in this country, more active than you are aware of. Technocracy is so anti-British in spirit it would amaze you."

Rev. J. A. Donnell of Nelson said he felt the church should act to "neutralize" extreme effects of the Defence Regulations Act.

Delegates voted in favor of abolishing "wet canteens," closing all licensed premises during the war, and restricting manufacture of liquor.

They reaffirmed opposition to lotteries and favored immediate adoption of a system of unemployment insurance.

Another resolution approved urged immediate steps to prepare for social and economic rehabilitation at the conclusion of the war.

Favorite Wins At Newmarket

NEWMARKET, Eng. (CP) — The Earl of Derby's Lighthouse 11 today won the Newmarket stakes, 1¼-mile event for three-year-olds.

The colt, a candidate for the Derby, June 12, defeated F. Darling's Pont l'Everque by five lengths. Lady Beatty's Black Toni was third in the field of 15, half a length behind Pont L'Eveque.

Lighthouse II started at 4 to 1, Pont L'Eveque at 11 to 10, and Black Toni at 10 to 1.

ments and made their shots count plenty. When playing "their game" the Jokers stopped Bay attacks repeatedly. With defence quite weak at times, Goalie Morely Maggs of the blackshirts did not show up very well. He missed long shots that he would have averted last week. Incidentally, Art McKim in the other goal did a lot to keep the Jokers' score in the lower level, making some fine saves. His defence was stronger, too.

OPEN WITH HARD CHECKING

For the first quarter the Jokers held the Bays magnificently and even succeeded in coming out of this 15-minute session with a 4 to 3 lead. But the Bays started to move, with the pressure hard on, in second-quarter play, and it wasn't long before they were enjoying a nice lead on the scoreboard, finishing the period ahead, 10 to 6. At the outset of the next quarter of play, Bays made it 12 to 6, before Jokers started to stop their goal-getting efforts and go on a scoring spree themselves.

For a while Jokers fought fiercely offensively and defensively, rapidly reducing the breach on the scoreboard. There was only three minutes of play left in the period when Lynn Patrick struggled through a maze of players and found the hemp to bring his blackshirts up to within a point of Bays, 13 to 12. But Jokers started to fade again, and Bays went ahead. At the three-quarter mark the count was 16 to 12, and Bays rapped in five goals to Jokers three in closing 15 minutes of warfare to finish with a 21 to 15 win. Toward the end of the game the Jokers got down to serious checking and in the last five minutes limited their opponents to one goal.

A brief scuffle between Austie Cullin and G. Coleman took place in the final quarter. Others joined in. Four players, two from each team, got tickets to the penalty box, including Frank Doheny and Dusty Mair. "Heck, I was only trying to stop it," said good-natured Frank.

A general improvement in the Jokers' stickhandling was quite noticeable.

MOSBY'S TONIC RELIEVES VANCOUVER MAN'S GASSY, UPSET STOMACH DISTRESS

Mr. Robinson of Slocan Street Felt Weak and Worn Out — Couldn't Sleep Due to Stomach Gas—Bowels Very Irregular—Now He Describes How Mosby's Tonic Gave Him Relief

Sincere Statements — from many parts of this general section — praising and endorsing MOSBY'S TONIC, continue to pour in daily to the Cunningham Drug Store, Fort and Douglas Sts., Victoria, where this "New Mixture of Roots and Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents," is now being introduced and explained to the local public by a Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as The MOSBY TONIC Man.

For instance, just a few days ago, the following Sincere Statement, describing what MOSBY'S TONIC can do in certain forms of suffering, was received from Mr. Spencer Robinson of 4711 Slocan St., Vancouver. Mr. Robinson is a Manufacturer's Agent and has lived in Vancouver 40 years. Read this well-known man's Grateful Statement, which follows:

MR. SPENCER ROBINSON of 4711 Slocan St., Vancouver, Who Says: "MOSBY'S TONIC Made Me Feel Like a New Person. I Gladly Endorse This Medicine for I Know It Deserves Anybody's Praise."

Energy Low; Suffered After Every Meal

"About two years ago I began to suffer with attacks of gas bloating in my stomach," said Mr. Robinson, "until finally these spells would come more often, and I couldn't eat a meal without suffering. It seemed that just as soon as I ate my food it would turn sour almost immediately and form large quantities of gas inside of me. And Oh! the pains from this gas. They are something only a stomach sufferer knows about. This gassy condition would keep up long after I went to bed at nights, and it was simply impossible to get my proper sleep. By morning I would feel worse than I did when I went to bed the night before. My bowels were very irregular, and I would often have to take laxatives.

Gets Splendid Relief and Praises Mosby's Tonic

"So you can see that I certainly was a suffering person, and the worst thing was that it looked like I couldn't get relief, as all the medicines I tried had failed me, but finally I found Mosby's Tonic. Now I have taken only two bottles, and I can hardly believe I am the same person. This medicine had a splendid action on my upset stomach right from the start. It cleared out the gas and the bloating so that now I can eat my meals and not have that distress afterward. You don't know what a joy it is to be relieved of those gas pains. And another thing, I can go to bed now and get my proper sleep, so that I always feel fine in the mornings, in fact, I can do a real day's work now without that low, worn-out feeling like I had before. This medicine also regulates my bowels better than anything I EVER FOUND. Yes, Mosby's Tonic has made me feel like a new person, and I am so grateful that I want to endorse this medicine to all who suffer as I did."

Acts on Bowels, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys

MOSBY'S TONIC accomplishes several things within the human body at the same time. That is because it contains 20 Ingredients, including 15 Roots and Herbs. It cleanses the bowels and clears gas and bloat from stomach. It enlivens the liver, cleans old bile from system and relieves biliousness and sick headache. It invigorates the kidney action, thus stopping backache. Weak, worn-out people soon feel like different men and women.

Only Costs Few Cents a Day to Take It

Another thing — due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Mosby's Tonic is Reasonable. You can actually take this New Formula with its many Herbs and Other Splendid Ingredients for just a few cents per day. So don't hesitate. Get Mosby's Tonic—NOW—and start taking it.

A Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as the MOSBY TONIC Man, is now at THE CUNNINGHAM DRUG STORE, Fort and Douglas Sts., Victoria, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this New Compound.

'IT'S A DATE' AT THE ATLAS

Heralded as Deanna Durbin's most colorful motion picture, "It's a Date," which has its background in Hawaii, will open today at the Atlas Theatre.

Marking another important forward step in the development of the Universal star into more mature roles, Deanna's seventh film finds her surrounded by a stellar cast.

Kay Francis and Walter Pidgeon share major honors. Eugene Pallette, Lewis Howard of "First Lowe," Samuel S. Hinds, Cissie Loftus, Fritz Feld, S. Z. Sakall, famous European actor, Henry Stephenson, are others.

CAPITOL THEATRE

All the charm and tuneful sparkle of the original hit musical comedy has been retained in RKO Radio's screen version of "Irene" which is at the Capitol Theatre to prove itself one of the season's most enjoyable offerings.

Ann Neagle, the English actress, surprises with a scintillating and delightful portrayal of the happy-go-lucky Irish heroine.

Ray Milland also is brilliantly effective as the wealthy young man who gets Miss Neagle into her various troubles as she soars from her salesgirl job to become the toast of the city.

PLAZA THEATRE

"Waterproof underwear" was the ingenious invention of a production expert during the filming of "Today We Live," the Mero-Goldwyn-Mayer feature starring Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper, now being shown at the Plaza Theatre. The specially treated cloth suits were worn by Gary Cooper, Robert Young and Franchot Tone during scenes in which they were required to stand in pouring rain for a four-day period for atmospheric scenes in the picture. "Today We Live" is based on a story by the brilliant William Faulkner.

DOMINION THEATRE

Theatre-goers have the opportunity of study a portrait of the "martyred president," as he truly may have existed in flesh and blood, in the screen version of Robert E. Sherwood's celebrated Pulitzer Prize Play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," now showing at the Dominion Theatre. And they may see Raymond Massey's masterful creation of the Lincoln figure, a portrayal which won him recognition in the successful stage play.

Here at last, one feels, is the real Lincoln!

CADET THEATRE

Meet Mr. and Mrs. Bingham!

The Binghams are members of the cast of entertaining personalities engaged for Walter Wanger's new "Eternally Yours," constarring Loretta Young and David Niven and showing at the Cadet Theatre. And the Binghams are, in reality, Zasu Pitts and Raymond Walburn.

OAK BAY THEATRE

A pair of popular singers, Lanny Ross and Jessica Dragonette, vocalize three of the hit songs in "Gulliver's Travels," Paramount's full-length animated cartoon in Technicolor, which is now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

The Ross-Dragonette numbers are "faithful," "Forever" and "Faithful Forever," written for the super-production by Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, the team responsible for such hits as "Love in Bloom" and "Thanks for the Memory."

RUMANIA CALLS ALL TO COLORS

BUCHAREST (AP)—Rumania ordered a virtual general mobilization today in a move which some diplomats believed was linked with Bucharest's fears that Soviet Russia's army may soon march into Bessarabia.

The general staff called 300,000 reservists to the colors within the next 24 hours, bringing the army to what the staff called "the highest state of preparedness."

Reports to military headquarters here said Soviet troop concentrations on Rumania's frontier had been heavily reinforced within the last fewdays.

Rich in oil—badly needed for modern mechanized warfare—King Carol's Balkan kingdom long has worried over a possible German invasion if the war should spread to southeastern Europe.

All leaves also were canceled immediately, with officers and men ordered to report back to their units before tomorrow. The order, which gave no reasons for this action, caused great excitement in Bucharest. It will swell the ranks of the army, navy and air force to more than 2,000,000 men in active service—virtually a general mobilization.

A Havas News Agency dispatch from Kaunas, Lithuania, last night said an authoritative report current there said the Soviet Union had ordered an immediate halt on all shipments of Russian oil to Germany, including the shipments now en route to the Reich over Lithuanian railways.

Fear Caused 2 Nazi Sailors to Shoot Themselves

Believing that if they were captured by the British their hands and feet would be cut off, two young German sailors killed themselves with revolvers when the rescue party from H.M.S. Cossack boarded the prison ship Altmark in a Norwegian fjord, according to a letter received by Donald MacRaild, chief engineer of the C.P.R. steamship Princess Adelaide, of 579 Michigan Street, from his friend, Alfred Colin Watt, one of the prisoners on the Altmark.

Mr. Watt was a refrigeration engineer on the Doric Star, one of the British vessels sunk by the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

"Then our troubles began," records Mr. Watt. "Aboard the Graf Spee we were referred to as Englishmen. Aboard the Altmark they called us 'prisoners.' That really expresses the difference.

"We were mustered on the forecastle head," says Mr. Watt, "and the captain, whom we called 'Nutty Whiskers,' addressed us. He told us we were under German martial law and any disturbance would be dealt with as he saw fit.

"During his address he had two machine guns trained on us from the bridge, a pompom from the upper bridge, 10 guards with rifles on the wings of the bridge, and the rest of the guards placed along the catwalk, armed with revolvers and daggers. And then they say the Altmark was not an armed ship!"

The prison ship started to head north for Germany at the beginning of February. Mr. Watt describes how the weather became colder and ice formed on deck.

Then came the day when the vessel put in at Bergen. She arrived at 9 p.m. on a Wednesday, and left at 6.30 a.m. Thursday bound for Kiel.

"At 9.30 a.m. we were stopped by a Norwegian gunboat and you should have heard the noise we kicked up in order to attract attention. We shouted and blew whistles and sang the National Anthem, but the Germans kept winches running to drown our noise and turned salt water hoses on us. At lunch time the ship was stopped again, this time by two Norwegian gunboats and a cruiser. Again we started our racket. Again they turned the hoses on us.

"However we were not beaten yet.

BATTERED HATCH

"With the aid of a battering ram we almost succeeded in getting our wooden hatch cover off. One of the gunboats was about 20 yards off our port but still they took no notice. We threw plates up through the broken hatch cover, made a flag out of rags, tied it on a broomstick and pushed it up and down through a hole, but to no avail.

"About 4.30 p.m. the Altmark proceeded, actually being escorted by two Norwegian submarine chasers.

The Germans kept the winches running in order to smother the noise of the prisoners. This was their undoing, for the winch rattling also prevented the Germans from hearing the engines of a British airplane which swooped down and identified the Altmark.

After the Altmark's futile attempt to ram the Cossack, the British destroyer's port bow was alongside the port bow of the German and the first of the boarding party jumped on to the Altmark forecastle.

"When the British boarders came over the rail amidship there was a bit of a scrap in which some Germans were killed. Everyone on the Altmark was armed even in the engineroom. Two Royal Marines went down to order all hands up and an engineer produced a revolver and shot at them. He missed but one of the marines drilled him with a rifle.

"Down in our prison we kept quiet in order to hear what was going on. We could hear the shots and felt her go aground. We were all ready with life jackets. Soon after, we heard running feet and could hear people breaking into our quarters.

"Then we heard those welcome words ror wnich we had waited 11 weeks: 'Are there any Englishmen down there?' We shouted all together 'Yes,' and they said, 'We are a British cruiser come to take you home to England.'

"I can't describe our feelings. I know I had my arms around the third engineer of the Doric Star and we were shouting 'Thank God for the navy'."

Chilean Battleship Damaged in Collision

VALPARAISO, Chile (AP)—South America's largest warcraft, the 28,000-ton Chilean battleship Almirante Latorre, broke from her moorings today and collided with the 2,640-ton Chilean passenger ship Palena, setting her adrift.

The Palena was battered against rocks. The battleship was reported to have been damaged before her crew succeeded in anchoring her.

Shipyard Agreement

Agreements were recently signed by Yarrows Limited and the Victoria Machinery Deport Limited with Local No. 2, All Canadian Congress of Labor, representing the boilermakers and iron shipbuilders of this city.

These agreements have been set at a basic rate, the highest in Canada, and will be in effect for the duration of the war.

This means there will be no possibility of strikes or termination of work duuring these strenuous times. The local at present represents over 200 men, all of whom are skilled in the craft of iron shipbuilding. A feeling of the utmost confidence exists between both men and employers, announces Archie Clyde, business agent for Local No. 2, James P. Veitch, district president, who signed the agreements on behalf of the men.

LOSE TRAWLER, HIT GERMAN SHIPS

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty today announced the naval trawler Rifsness had been sunk in a bomb attack. The statement said there were three casualties, but gave no further details of the attack.

Five German transport and supply ships have been "successfully attacked by our ships" in the last 10 days, an authoritative naval source said today.

He added that "other German ships have fallen victims to Allied minefields," and a German attempt to cut Britain's sea communications has been checked.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Maritime Register, a shipping journal, today said the Swedish motorship Erik Frisell, 5,066 gross tons, had been torpedoed in the North Sea while trying to reach England with a cargo of United States goods.

An ore carrier, the ship left Buenos Aires March 15 for Stockholm after putting in at Baltimore, Md., and Hampton Roads, Va.

Police Slayer Taken Dead

PARKLAND, Alta. (CP) — Charles Hansen, 68, was found dead with a bullet in his head this morning after he had killed Constable Gordon Counsell in his barricaded home.

Early reports said Hansen was shot in the shoulder as he stood at an attic window. A few moments later Royal Canadian Mounted Police entered the farm house after hearing a shot and found the body of Hansen and that of the dead constable.

Hansen, wealthy and well-known farmer in this district, barricaded himself in his home after he had gone to his son's farm and shot him in the stomach while two other sons looked on, helpless in the suddenness of the attack.

Police threw tear gas into the house, and a few minutes later they charged it. While they searched the lower room, Hansen poked a rifle through an opening in the attic floor and shot Counsell in the head. Other police officers beat a hasty retreat, leaving Counsell's body in the house.

SON NEAR DEATH

George Hansen is near death in hospital.

Hansen's other two sons, Benny, 24, and Carl, 30, told police that late last night their father ordered them at gunpoint to drive him to George's farm. On reaching the farm the father, they said, stepped from the automobile and shot George in the stomach. George's wife died in March.

At the request of the sons, neighbors summoned Corporal G. Wilson of the R.C.M.P. from Clareshold, who fired several shots at Hansen's home when the farmer refused to surrender.

It was reported by police that Officer Counsell broke into the Hansen home and chased the farmer into the attic. Those continuing the siege outside heard a shot.

Counsell failed to return and Hansen continued to shoot it out with police.

Police said Mrs. Hansen and her daughter, Mary, were staying with friends after fleeing from the house when the father returned from George's farm.

New Destroyers Largest of Type

OTTAWA (CP) — Sisterships of the illustrious H.M.S. Cossack of Altmark fame, the two Tribal class destroyers now under construction in Great Britain for the Royal Canadian Navy will be the largest, fastest and most heavily armed destroyers in the service of this Dominion, it was learned today.

Like the graceful, high-bowed Cossack which earned fame in rescue of imprisoned British seamen on the German prison ship Altmark in a Norwegian fjord and later participated in the Narvik campaign in Norwegian waters, the new Canadian vessels will mount eight 4.7-inch guns, four 21-inch torpedo tubes and seven smaller quick-firing guns. The speed will be 36.5 knots.

Defence Minister Rogers announced the pending additions to the navy in a speech before Parliament.

The new destroyers will be of 1,870 tons displacement, compared with the 1,390 tons of the flotilla leader, H.M.C.S. Assiniboine, purchased earlier in the war and hitherto the largest Canadian destroyer.

Assiniboine's main armament is four 4.7-inch guns, half the number of the Tribal class, and the flotilla leader has six smaller guns, compared to seven for the tribal class, and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes, compared with four in the Tribal class. Assiniboine's top speed is 35.75 knots, compared with 36.5 for the Tribal class.

The new vessel will have a complement of 190 officers and ratings, compared with 175 for the Assiniboine, and 44,000 horsepower from their turbines, compared with 36,000 turned up by Assiniboine. The Tribal class overall waterline length is 355½ feet, beam 36½ and draught 9 feet, compared with 326 feet length, 33 feet beam and 8¾ feet draught of the flotilla leader.

Only larger and more heavily-armed vessels of Canada's navy will be the three merchantmen converted into light cruisers, as mentioned by the Prime Minister in Parliament on Monday. Their identity was not disclosed.

NO SALE OF U.S. FORCES' PLANES

WASHINGTON (AP) —By a vote of 12 to 1, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee shelved today a proposal that the United States sell army and navy planes to the Allies.

Only Senator Claude Pepper, Democrat, Florida, the author, voted for the proposal.

Chairman Key Pittman, democrat, Nevada, said it was the consensus of the committee members that the legislation would violate international law and would constitute "intervention by the United States" in the war.

Pepper, Pittman said, agreed with this view, but argued that "Hitler had violated all the rules of international law and that the success of the Allies was of vital importance to us."

The committee acted without waiting for an opinion regarding the proposal from the State Department. Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, California, ranking minority member of the committee, argued the matter was one in which the committee should exercise its own discretion.

Communists Routed From Times Square

NEW YORK (AP) — Police drove approximately 4,500 Communists and their sympathizers from a crowd choked Times Square last night after they had touched off a quietly planned "peace demonstration."

Because the normal complement of Times Square patrolmen was unable to handle the surprise demonstration, about 200 police and 50 mounted officers were summoned and they squelched the disturbance about a half-hour after it had begun.

Crowds disgorging into the square from theatres at the time of the demonstration added to the confusion as the police drove the line of demonstrators, 10 blocks long, into side streets.

Fist fighting between police and paraders broke out when officers attempted to confiscate banners and flags.

Placards bore such words as "Roosevelt, Dewey and Hoover are united for war" and shouted "We want peace" and "Keep America out of war."

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Moderate strength on outside markets, lack of selling pressure and the more encouraging tone of reports from Europe allowed scattered purchasing to boost wheat futures prices on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. At the close of the quiet session, quotations were ¾ to ⅝ cent higher, May at 71⅝, July 72⅝ and October 74⅞.

Overseas interests and mills were credited with most of the light support in the pit, while southern houses were on both sides of the market. The outside buying indicated an export business of about 300,000 bushels in Canadian wheat, bulk of which appeared to have been top northern grades sold in the United Kingdom.

At Chicago wheat values added about 2 cents to their totals while Buenos Aires prices were 1⅜ to 1½ cents higher near the close.

Only odd car lots changed hands in the cash wheat market. Coarse grain operations were featureless, most prices following the trend of wheat.

Western farmers delivered 161,000 bushels of wheat to country loading points yesterday compared with 258,000 unloaded on the same day a year ago.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat prices scored net gains amounting to more than 2 cents a bushel at one stage today, but lost about half of this advance before the close.

The better tone of securities and reports of success in Allied counter-attacks imparted strength to the grain market. May wheat ran up as much as 2¾ cents just before the close to 85½ as previous "short" sellers evened up accounts. This was the last session in which trading in these contracts could be done.

Wheat closed ½ to 2¾ cents higher than yesterday, May 85 to 85½, July 82¼ to 83; corn ⅛ lower to 1 cent higher, May 64 to 64⅛, July 62⅜ to 62½; oats ⅛ to ¾ lower.

Canadians Missing

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Glover of Suburban Norwood disclosed they had received a cable from the British Air Ministry telling them their son, Pilot Officer Jack Thompson Glover, had been reported missing by the Royal Air Force "due to air operations May 19."

Glover, 22, was well known as an athlete here.

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Pilot Officer Kenneth Richard Lucas, 20-year-old St. Thomas member of the Royal Air Force, was reported missing in operations, according to a message received yesterday from the British Air Ministry by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lucas.

Hysterical Selling Ends

NEW YORK (AP)—The ebb tide of selling turned in the stock market today and a selective flow of buying set in. Aircrafts, steels and specialties were the principal gainers.

As news from the theatre of war appeared more favorable to the Allied cause, the hysterical selling of yesterday was converted into careful buying in issues calculated to benefit from American rearmament.

The move was not vigorous, and many leaders had lost part of the day's gains at the finish. Turnover, at about 2,100,000 shares, was only about half yesterday's.

Douglas, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin and Sperry were most consistent performers on the upside. Others in favor most of the time included Montgomery Ward, Youngstown Sheet, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Loft, Great Northern preferred, Case, American and Eastman.

Lower were American Telephone, Santa Fe, U.S. Gypsum and J. C. Penney.

Hiram Walker and Distillers, among Canadian issues, advanced fractions. Canadian Pacific and Dome Mines were easy and Lake Shore Mines held unchanged, while Canada 4s, in the bond market, dipped slightly.

Java's Jungles Contain Tigers And Leopards

Yesterday I spoke of rice as the main food of the people of Java. It does hold that place, but the island produces foods of many other kinds.

The three men in white, fez-type hats are public officers of Java.

Sweet potatoes, sugar cane, coconuts and corn grow well. Pineapples, bananas, mangos and custard apples are among the important fruits.

Tea, cocoa and coffee are produced in Java. Java coffee has become world famous. We hear of it when people speak of "Mocha and Java" as two kinds of high grade coffee.

Java is very nearly "on the other side of the world" from us. It is below the equator, about half way between Australia and Asia.

If you wished to go there, the best way in these days would be from a Pacific port. You could sail southwestward clear across the Pacific, past Borneo to Java.

Very likely you would land at Batavia, the leading city. It has grown rapidly during the present century, and now has close to 500,000 people.

Java is owned by Holland, and good words have been spoken about the way the Dutch have handled it. It is "the jewel" of the Dutch empire.

More than 5,000 kinds of trees and other plants grow in Java. The trees include oaks, elms, maples and chestnuts, so you would have something—during a visit—to make you think of home. Most of the trees, however, are new to a person from North America.

In the Java forests or jungles, you could find tigers, musk-deer, bantengs, leopards, apes, ant-eaters, and one-horned rhinos.

Among the birds are green peacocks, red jungle fowls, pink-headed doves and crimson orioles. Along with these are hundreds of kinds of butterflies.

Most of the people of Java are of the brown-skinned Malay race. The island contains only about 150,000 whites, or less than one-half of one per cent of the total population.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, May 23

Adverse planetary aspects are active today. It is not an auspious date for keen judgment. Deception is easily successful during this sway. Strife is intensified under this configuration. The stars encourage a sense of freedom and optimism.

Routine matters should engage attention today which is fortunate for initiative in practical plans for the future. The day is lucky for women writers or secretaries, both of whom will be in great demand through the summer. Girls should combine training for household tasks with thorough preparation for wage-earning vocations.

The stars presage return to conservative methods that will assure stability in many lines of business.

Bulgaria is under threatening portents. Death or retirement of an important official is presaged. New pacts will be signed. According to aspects of Uranus the scope of Russia in the European war will extend and again warning is given that Soviet agents will continue to function secretly in neutral countries, particularly the United States.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune. There will be opportunities to travel. Women will be lucky in many ways, especially in romances.

Children born on this day probably will be happy in nature and exceedingly talented. They may be impetuous and temperamental.

Charge Financiers

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday charged 12 New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Ohio investment counsellors with defrauding money-needing businesses of "advance fees" which a prosecutor declared totaled $1,000,000.

They were indicted for an alleged scheme to collect "front money," represented as necessary in advance for procurement of desired capital and financing.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My fiance and I have been engaged for two years and we are very much in love with each other. At first we agreed that we would not marry until we could have a nice home, good furniture and a car, but now we feel that all we want is to be together. If we marry it will mean making a home in one or two rooms, pinching pennies and doing without many things we want. Do you think we dare risk marriage on such a shoestring?

MARY.

Answer: Our parents did. Haven't you as much intestinal fortitude as they had? They didn't wait until they could have horses and buggies and fine furniture and pianos and were able to give cocktail parties before they set up homes of their own. And they managed to be happy and bring up families without even hearing of radios and automobiles, electric stoves, ice boxes and beauty shops.

I don't see why it can't be done again, nor why any young couple who are healthy and strong and have jobs that will keep the wolf away from the door, should hesitate to marry and start life on the same plane that their parents did.

There can be a lot of happiness in a two-room flat, where a man and woman are working and hoping and planning together. I know a woman, whose husband is a multimillionaire and one of the most famous men in this country, who says that the happiest time of her life was when she cooked and scrubbed in a little shack of a cottage and washed and ironed at night the shirt he wore the next day.

DEAR MISS DIXI am in love with a girl who won't let me kiss her, and the more she won't let me kiss her the more I want to kiss her. How do you account for that?

SEVENTEEN.

Answer: It is just human nature to want what is hard to get. Every man hankers after forbidden fruit, and if a girl had the sense that God promised a fishing worm they would recognize that elementary fact in masculine psychology.

DOROTHY DIX.

Henry Meyerhoff's Canadian Crescent Shows which are now in Victoria on Blanshard Street with a variety of attractions for the holiday, have offered their services in helping to stage the May 24 bazaar which will be held on Blanshard Street between Yates and Johnson Streets on Friday evening at 8. The bazaar, the proceeds of which will go towards the Queen Alexandra Solarium fund, is being presented by the May 24 celebration committee of Victoria, it was announced by Alderman W. H. Davies, chairman of the committee, today.

Games, merchandise stores and attractions shown at the Crescent Shows Fair will be presented. The entertainment will consist of street dancing and a floor show, featuring many of the city's leading artists.

FUN AT NEWCASTLE ISLAND—Wide sweeps of green playing fields and beaches make Newcastle Island, the Canadian Pacific's picnic resort in Nanaimo harbor, a popular place for outings both for individuals and parties such as the Greater Vancouver Young People's Union which will make its annual picnic outing there, May 24. Above photo shows one of Newcastle's three big playing fields where a game of softball is in progress. Beyond is one of the beaches with Protection Island in the background. Many organizations have selected Newcastle for their annual picnic this summer. Frequent launch sailings between Nanaimo and Newcastle makes the popular resort island readily accessible for Vancouver Island.

Camby Place is changed again to Purcell Place.

Alderman John Worthington's motion calling on the Union of British Columbia Municipalities to seek legislation which would force citizens to take active measures in rat control was approved. The move is one to secure permissive legislation empowering a municipal council to charge residents of its district for rodent removal if such residents fail to take adequate action themselves. It was prompted, the alderman said, by an increase in the number of calls on the city rat-catcher this year.

Complaints of certain Broad Street merchants over parking conditions in the block between View and Fort is still being considered, the public works committee reported.

Notice of his intention to introduce a motion next week calling for early opening and early closing of the City Hall during the summer months was given by Alderman Morgan.

No Offence Meant

When Mayor Andrew McGavin asked Duncan MacBride to sit down at the public hearing last week on the transportation question, he was seeking to call him to order to permit a speaker then on his feet to secure an uninterrupted hearing. That explanation was given by the mayor in a letter to Mr. MacBride. A copy of the communication was read at yesterday's council meeting following protest from the chamber over alleged discourtesies to its president. No offence was intended, the mayor's letter said. In another communication dealing with the same meeting, John Rowland contended his remarks had been "grossly exaggerated" in press reports.

Straith, Pringle and Ruttan, acting for taxi companies in Greater Victoria, notified the council of their decision to apply to the public utilities commission for standardization of taxi fares in the city and surrounding municipalities on a basis of charges listed in the city by-law.

May Buy Ambulance

Victoria should do something toward Canada's war effort, Alderman Worthington stated at yesterday's meeting of the council. He suggested the city take the lead in providing an ambulance at a cost of $5,000 or $10,000. His proposal was supported by Alderman Wills. Alderman Davies reported the celebrations committee would do all in its power to assist the Red Cross.

In a move to assist the officials of the provincial museum in a government plan to establish a picturesque Indian village in Victoria, the City Council yesterday agreed to lease to the government three lots on the southwest corner of Belleville, Douglas and Elliott Streets as a site. The plan calls for exhibition there of choice Indian canoes and totem poles available through museum sources. The lease will extend for 10 years at a nominal rental and with renewal options.

City Purchases Garbage Crusher

That garbage crusher which Alderman Ed. Williams and his supporters on the City Council hope will solve the problem of rubbish returning to city beaches will be bought from the Victoria Machinery Depot at a cost of $2,850. But if it does not work, it will be returned and the price refunded.

Alderman Williams fought his public works committee recommendation calling for the purchase through the council yesterday afternoon and finally gained council support for the motion on a 7 to 4 division.

Alderman John Worthington, supported by Alderman W. L. Morgan, sought a hoist in the proposal pending tabling of complete plans on cribbing, piling and other work to provide a new wharf.

"The cart's before the horse," Alderman Morgan contended, stating the city had nowhere to put the crusher.

"We have a place but we want a better one," Alderman Williams retorted.

NEEDED SOON

It would take a month to build the machine and he wished to see it in operation as soon as possible, he said. If the council shelved the scheme it would not be ready for next year, he said.

Alderman S. H. Okell, replying to Alderman Worthington, remarked on the latter's statements over the need to have the beaches cleaned. But nothing had been done to clean them, he added.

The vote to purchase the equipment was carried, with Aldermen Worthington, Morgan, B. J. Gadsden and Archie Wills in the negative.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce, seeking improvement of the beaches, was referred to the public works and parks committees, Alderman Okell explaining relief labor had been used for the purpose last year. Alderman Williams expressed the hope the crusher would look after the problem.

12 MORE LOTS SOLD BY CITY

Sale of 12 properties was authorized by the City Council yesterday on the recommendation of the lands committee.

The parcels covered in the deals and the prices follow: Four lots on the east of Bank Street between Quamichan and Brighton, each for $50; another on the east of Belmont between King's Road and Ryan Street, for $50; a sixth on the south side of Southgate between Rupert and Vancouver for $300; a seventh on the east of Richmond between Quamichan and Gonzales, for $200; an eighth on the north of Finlayson between Cedar Hill and the end of Finlayson, for $100, and three on the east of Arnold between Richardson and Brooke Streets, for $50 each. A twelfth on the south of May, between Cook and Cambridge, brought $200.

Another property on the north of Finlayson between Jackson and Fifth Street was sold to persons who had formerly undertaken purchase of another lot but who agreed to switch their purchase to the new parcel to avoid forcing the city to the expense of a sewer extension.

One sale was canceled and the committee received support for a recommendation to rezone the lot adjoining the northwest corner of Cook and Fairfield for commercial purposes. An offer for the corner lot has already been received but the rezoning of the adjacent land is required before the deal is completed.

Kill Parallel Parking In Douglas St. Area

Parallel parking on Douglas Street from Cormorant to Fort Street was on the way out today. After hearing a delegation of merchants from that section of Victoria's main shopping drag, the council decided to revoke the clause of its special traffic by-law enforcing parallel parking there.

Merchants claimed the move was an inconvenience to potential customers and was causing losses in their businesses.

Deletion of the clause in the new regulations, which became operative with registration last week, will require by-law action and cannot be put through before the next council session.

P. J. Sinnott, speaking for 72 petitioners in the affected area, stated the merchants and professional men were suffering loss of business through the regulation. Customers were being driven from the highly-taxed business section on Douglas to other areas where parking space was available.

There had been no parking problem prior to the introduction of the by-law, he said. The problem had arisen out of the regulation which reduced availability of curb space by two-thirds.

Mr. Sinnott saw the possibility of tourists, unable to find parking space on Douglas, driving right through and out of town to lunch and shop elsewhere.

MERCHANTS' VIEWS

James Fletcher said the parallel parking regulation caused confusion, reduced the number of women shoppers and hurt business. The sooner it was eliminated the better off the merchants would be, he contended.

J. M. Little supported that argument, citing cases to show his store was losing through the new arrangement.

George MacDonald spoke similarly, stating the drop in business would prevent merchants in the area from paying the high rentals collected there.

Joseph Rose was in accord, stating he had seen no traffic snarls in front of his premises during the angle-parking days.

H. Street of David Spencer Ltd., reported he had heard many complaints over the new regulation.

Alderman W. L. Morgan noted opposition that had been expressed to the parallel parking scheme when it was first proposed appeared to be borne out by the delegation at the meeting. He urged the clause in the by-law be revoked.

Mayor McGavin asked the merchants to give the plan a longer trial.

Alderman S. H. Okell called for revocation of the regulation. He had consistently opposed it, he added.

Alderman Morgan said his attention had been called to several minor collisions on Douglas since the parallel parking regulations went into force.

There had been less accidents reported than before, Chief of Police J. A. McLellan countered.

LOSING MONEY

Alderman Worthington asked the businessmen if they were losing money through the change.

"Absolutely," came the reply.

Alderman Ed. Williams urged committee study of the issue, promising a report at the next council meeting. Other parking matters were now under discussion and could be handled at the same time, he said.

He gained support from Alderman T. W. Hawkins.

Gordon Hartley stated motorists themselves were not in favor of the parallel parking.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar asked why Douglas Street merchants should enjoy angle parking when those on other streets had parallel parking in front of their stores.

Keith Dorman stated Douglas, being wider, was adapted to angle parking. He thought, too, that businessmen who had expanded their businesses on that street should receive consideration.

Chief McLellan contended reduction in business had been due to the change in the war picture. He challenged Alderman Morgan's earlier statement the alderman could park three cars at an angle where one parked parallel. Such a procedure could not be done legally, he said.

"What is the value of the scheme?" asked Thomas Kelway.

"It's for the benefit of the public," the chief replied.

PUBLIC OPPOSED

"The public does not like it," replied a merchants' delegate.

Mr. Sinnott spoke again on the assessment values on Douglas Street as he urged the early repeal of the by-law clause.

Alderman Archie Wills commended the chief for trying to improve traffic conditions but stated the merchants were entitled to consideration.

F. W. Francis asked delay be avoided in remedying the existing conditions.

F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, explained by-law action would be required to make the change and could not be effected before the next council session.

Mayor McGavin urged more tibe be given to the experiment, voicing the view the war had caused the reduction in business.

The Williams motion was put and failed, with Aldermen Hawkins, Davies, Williams and Dewar voting with the mayor in its favor.

The original motion to repeal the by-law clause carried, with Aldermen D. D. McTavish, B. J. Gadsden, Morgan, Okell, Worthington and Wills in the affirmative.

PHANTOM BOMBER BROUGHT DOWN

LONDON (CP)—Anti-aircraft gunners on the east coast last night brought down a "phantom bomber"—a Royal Air Force Hampden, flying empty after its crew and pilot had taken to parachutes.

German gunners had crippled the plane, the Air Ministry said today, and the crew, except for the pilot, sailed out over Germany.

"Single-handed, the pilot nursed his aircraft across the North Sea, fighting every minute of the long journey to maintain height," the account related.

"As he crossed the British coast he was picked up by an anti-aircraft searchlight. He was all in, and his aircraft was in no condition to make a safe landing.

"He said, 'Well, thank God that's England anyway!' and opened the door of his plane and stepped out.

"At that moment anti-aircraft gunners, receiving no recognition signals, opened fire.

"As the pilot floated down in his parachute, he thought of "parachooters'" — a newly-established civilian force to combat the possible invasion of German parachute troops—"who might be waiting beneath.

"But his luck held. He landed safely and was able to establish his identity."
